Rhee Gives Up Presidency

Korean War Allies Urge End To Crisis

U.S. Formally Calls For Reforms; ROK Ambassador Quits

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States prodded the South Korean government Tuesday to redress swiftly "the grievances of the people." Then it joined 13 Korean War Allies in demanding early solution of the Korean political crisis by democratic means.

Diplomatic representatives of 14 nations which fought to save South Korea from Red invaders met behind closed doors and reviewed the riotous situation which has forced President Syngman Rhee to the brink of resignation.

Korean Ambassador Quits

Afterward the State Department —which set up the conference — issued a statement on behalf of the entire group. It said in part:

"Those present joined in expressing the hope that there would be an early resolution of the situation in a manner which would permit the orderly functioning of democratic government in the Republic of Korea."

The meeting capped a day which also saw:

1. The United States formally call for reforms to quiet unrest which has erupted into disorders in South Korea. Rhee's foes have charged widescale irregularities and strongarm tactics in elections last month.

2. South Korea's Ambassador You Chan Yang announced he is handing in his resignation after nine years here "because I have made mistakes."

South Africa, Ethiopia Absent

The 14-nation meeting was attended by representatives of all but two of the Allies which went to South Korea's defense after the Communists crossed the 38th parallel in 1950.

Absent were the South African and Ethiopian representatives. South Korea was not invited.

Yang said that under instructions from his government, he had wrongly declared in public that the Communists fomented the demonstrations seething in his homeland. He said he found out from a friend in Korea that this was not so and "I want to publicly apologize for the statements which I have made."

The Korean diplomat said also he had received a threat from a Korean businessman here, Koh Byong Choll, to get out of the embassy in 24 hours or be forced out. But Yang denied this influenced his decision to submit his resignation.

Chicago Crime Syndicate Boss Freed On Bond

CHICAGO (UPI)—Anthony J. Accardo, reputed czar of the Chicago crime syndicate founded by Al Capone, was arrested Tuesday on the same charges which torpedoed Capone—income tax evasion.

The poker-faced gang lord, clad in pajamas and bathrobe, was waiting on the front porch when federal agents arrived at sunup at his $500,000 mansion in suburban River Forest.

Accardo was taken to Chicago's Federal Court house clad in a tasteful blue suit and handcuffs. After three hours in custody, Accardo was released on $25,000 bond with his record of never spending a night in jail in his life in tact.

Another Accardo boast had been shattered, however. In 35 years in the underworld, Accardo had never been indicted. But a federal grand jury Monday night returned a three-count indictment charging the man known as "Tough Tony" with a penny ante tax dodge — turning in faked up expense accounts.

Kennedy Leads Nixon In Mass. Write-In Race

MAY TAKE HELM — Huh Chung, 62-year-old South Korean independent pictured in Seoul yesterday, may head a caretaker government to take over from the collapsing regime of President Syngman Rhee. Rhee's resignation in the wake of rioting was considered certain. (AP Photofax via radio from Tokyo)

Adlai Running Poor Second On Demo Ballot

BOSTON (AP) — A surge of votes from Democratic Boston, home city of Sen. John F. Kennedy, gave the Democratic hopeful a big lead Tuesday night in the write-in presidential preference race in the Massachusetts primary.

The returns from the first 169 precincts reporting including 70 of Boston, gave Kennedy 6,694 write-ins.

On the Republican ballot, Vice President Richard M. Nixon had 2,169 preference votes in the same precincts.

Kennedy collected 171 write-ins on the Republican ballot—indicating one out of 15 Republicans who voted prefer the Democratic senator for president.

The same was true, to a lesser degree, on the Democratic ballot, which showed Nixon preferred by one out of 70 of the voting Democrats.

Adlai E. Stevenson, the two-time loser for the presidency, ran a poor second in the early reporting precincts, with only 258 write-ins.

The names of actual or potential candidates were not printed on the Massachusetts ballot. A blank space was provided, and the voter was asked to indicate his preference for the presidency.

Kennedy Ahead In Pa.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts swept into a commanding lead over four other Democrats Tuesday night in the write-in race in the Pennsylvania presidential primary.

Republican votes piled up for Vice President Richard M. Nixon, running unopposed on the GOP ballot.

All the votes for Democrats were write-ins, none having officially entered the primary. They were being tabulated for Kennedy, Adlai E. Stevenson, and Sens. Hubert Humphrey (Minn), Stuart Symington, (Mo), and Lyndon Johnson (Tex). GOP write-ins for New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller also were being counted.

Unofficial tabulations from 765 of the state's 9,013 precincts showed: Kennedy 1,585, Humphrey 13, Symington 10, Stevenson 20 and Johnson 0.

The Republican count gave Nixon 49,954 votes and 138 write-ins for Rockefeller.

Pirates Held In Havana Pending British Action

HAVANA (AP) — Two American desperdoes were held incommunicado by Cuban officials Tuesday while the legal wheels ground out orders for their return to Nassau to face British charges of murder and piracy.

The charges against them are killing a charter yacht captain who offered to rescue them from an isolated island in the Bahamas and then fleeing in his boat.

The men are Alvin Table Jr., 25, an Arkansas adventurer, and William Sees, 23, of Torrance, Calif.

The British Embassy requested their extradition to Nassau to face the charge of murdering Capt. Angus Boatwright of Key West, Fla. and the charge of piracy. Officials here said conviction on either charge could bring death.

Although heavily armed, Table and Sees offered no resistance to Cuban sailors who found them and their stolen yacht, the Muriel III, aground near Isabela de Sagua.

This was the second boat they had stolen in a week. Table, Sees, and Table's 18-year-old bride, the former Barbara Fisher of San Antonio, Tex., made off with a boat in Key West last week. They ran out of gas and were stranded last Tuesday on Elbo Cay, a deserted island in the Bahamas. Boatwright was attempting to rescue them there.

Mrs. Table is in Nassau. No charges have been placed against her.

U.S. and British officials said Cuban naval units were alerted after a U.S. Coast Guard plane pursued the Muriel III to Cuban waters. They complimented the Cuban navy on its fast work.

Sees and Table were transferred to Havana and questioned by intelligence agents. The Cuban Foreign Ministry said the two men would be transferred to British authorities as soon as extradition formalities are complete.

Kennedy Close To Electrocution At W. Va. Mine

MULLENS, W. Va. (UPI) — While joking and mingling with a gang of miners during a change of shifts, Sen. John F. Kennedy came within six inches of being electrocuted Tuesday.

The Democratic presidential candidate was having a jovial good time with miners at the Itmann operation of Pocahontas Fuel Co. about two miles from here when his head almost touched a high voltage line.

The near tragedy occurred as Kennedy was walking around in a grimy mine car, reaching out to shake the blackened hand of a man who had just completed work.

In unison the 200 miners standing around yelled, "look out for the wire!" and Kennedy ducked.

It didn't seem to faze Kennedy. He got down out of the car and within a few minutes was as grimy as the miners. He sat down on the mine tracks, leaned up against one of the mine cars and the men gathered around to chew the fat with him.

Kennedy, FDR Jr. At Side, Acclaimed In South W.Va.

MULLENS, W.Va. (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) received Tuesday the greatest ovation of his campaigning in overwhelmingly Protestant, economically depressed southern West Virginia.

Sitting beside him in the open car was Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr.

It was impossible to say whom drew the most applause as the two rode down the main street of Mullens with hundreds lining the sidewalks, many of them waving Kennedy posters.

One youngster toted a sign as big as he was, saying: "Hello, FDR Jr. We voted for your pop. We like Jack."

Kennedy continued the theme he has stuck to for the last two days of his campaigning for the May 10 presidential primary: The Eisenhower administration has neglected the needed areas, such as the economically hit coal mining areas in this section of the state.

At Pineville he was introduced by young Roosevelt as "the only man who can lick Dick Nixon, the Republican bosses' handpicked candidate."

Roosevelt sized up the West Virginia presidential primary race as a contest between "two outstanding Democrats, one of whom cannot be nominated even if West Virginia votes for him. His initials are H. H.," one of the rare direct references to Kennedy's oppondnt in the primary, Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota.

Tokyo's Riot Police Battle Student Mob

Leftists Protest Against U.S. Pact; Over 100 Injured

TOKYO (AP)—Six thousand radical left-wing university students tried to batter their way through massed police lines into the Parliament building Tuesday in protest against Japan's new security pact with the United States.

Members of the Zengakuren National Students Assn. were cheered on by black-uniformed leaders. The leaders exhorted the youths to emulate South Korean students who forced President Syngman Rhee to bow to their demands for reforms.

Assaults Thrown Back

But the anti-American Japanese students lacked both the inspiration and mettle of the pro-American Koreans.

Baton-wielding policemen threw back the massed assaults of the chanting, shouting young men and women in a four-hour series of shoving contests punctuated by free-for-alls which left many faces bloodied.

At least 30 policemen and more than 100 demonstrators were injured.

Eighteen students, including one of the leaders, were arrested. The riot may be regarded as a trial test for demonstrations the students plan when President Eisenhower visits Japan in June.

Cars Bar Mob's Way

The youths are members of the radical wing of Zengakuren, which was thrown out of the Communist party for its extreme policies.

The group has staged repeated protests against the military treaty, signed in Washington last January and now up for ratification by the Japanese Diet.

Police rushed 6,000 riot force men into the fray. Two thousand others were held in reserve, but never used.

Bumper-to-bumper rows of police cars and trucks barred the way of the mob into the building.

Brown Plans No Execution Stay For Chessman

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown said Tuesday he shares the horror of all impending executions but is powerless to save the life of Caryl Chessman.

"Under our (state) Constitution," he said, "I am now constrained against my profound personal beliefs to take no further action in this case."

After almost 12 years on San Quentin's death row Chessman is scheduled to die in the gas chamber Monday. It is the ninth time the date has been set since he was convicted as the Los Angeles "red light bandit" for robbery, kidnaping and sexual crimes against two young women.

The faint hope that Chessman felt Monday with disclosure of alleged "new evidence" in the case seemed to flicker out Tuesday. He would not comment on the governor's statement. Newsmen who saw him said he was depressed, convinced that this time there would be no reprieve.

His attorneys refused to give up hope and planned to continue the legal battle that Chessman himself masterminded during most of the years on death row.

George T. Davis said he would file a new appeal with the state Supreme Court this week on grounds evidence was withheld at Chessman's trial.

ANPA Considers Steps To Avoid Payola Taint

NEW YORK (AP) —Publishers discussed measures Tuesday to avoid any taint of payola in the newspaper industry.

The subject was taken up informally at the annual convention of the American Newspaper Publishers Assn.

Without taking any vote, a number of publishers indicated they intended to limit acceptance of free travel junkets and free tickets to sporting and theater events, except to staffers covering the events.

They also indicated opposition to. acceptance of any substantial Christmas or other gifts.

The general trend of the discussion was one of re-examination of the situation.

Triumphal Return

New York Throng Acclaims De Gaulle

NEW YORK (AP) — French President Charles de Gaulle made another of his great triumphal returns Tuesday, this time to New York City. At one point he strode away from his security guard to embrace well wishers in Times Square.

Police estimated a million persons lined lower Broadway to roar a greeting to the austere old warrior. De Gaulle is one of the few men ever to receive a second ticker tape parade up the historic Manhattan canyon of heroes.

"Vive de Gaulle!" rose from tens of thousands of throats as the towering figure of the French leader was borne along the route in President Eisenhower's bubble-topped limousine, brought from Washington for the occasion.

After the parade, when De Gaulle's caravan arrived at the Hotel Astor, he bolted his police escort, ignored a red carpet at the 44th Street entrance, and marched across the street to shake hands with some of the 2,000 spectators massed behind police barricades.

"Good luck to all of you," he said in English, as he embraced some of them with a wide sweep of his arms. "Lots of luck to all Americans."

De Gaulle last came here in 1945 as premier of his nation's first provisional postwar government. This time he returned at the age of 69, a little grayer, a little paunchier, as first president of the Fifth French Republic.

His visit was to be brief and purely social. Receptions occupied his afternoon and were climaxed with a Waldorf-Astoria dinner, sponsored by Franco-American groups. He leaves Wednesday for San Francisco and later New Orleans.

De Gaulle closed out four days of Washington presummit talks with an early morning farewell to President Eisenhower at the White House.

At LaGuardia airport, Mayor Robert F. Wagner greeted De Gaulle: "New York City is very, very proud today to welcome one of the great men of our time to our city."

His limousine joined a 40-car motorcade to Manhattan for the parade up Broadway.

NASA Unveils Moon Shot Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—The civilian space agency unveiled plans Tuesday to smash a 500-pound spacecraft on the moon at more than 5,000 miles an hour, its television cameras taking pictures to the very last.

Simultaneously, the intention will be to bring a 300-pound package of instruments onto the moon fairly gently.

The first U.S. effort to place something useful on the moon is scheduled within the next two years.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced selection of the Aeronutronic Division of Ford Motor Co., Newport Beach, Calif., as the potential builder of a 300-pound instrument pack that would ride pig-a-back on a larger spacecraft.

The over-all cost of the spacecraft-capsule combination is estimated at 10 million dollars.

The mushroom-shaped instrument pack is to be detached from its parent craft about 20 to 25 miles above the moon, with reverse-firing retro rockets slowing its impact speed to less than 300 miles an hour.

German Reds Bolster Border "Death Zone"

BERLIN (UPI) — The Communists reinforced their barbed-wire "zone of death" along the East-West German border Tuesday in a new attempt to halt the exodus of refugees fleeing a Soviet zone collectivization drive.

The Communists erected new barbed wire barriers along the East - West frontier in northern Germany and plowed up land behind the Iron Curtain border in an effort to seal it off completely against illegal crossings.

On rail lines and highways into Berlin East German police introduced controls in depth. Persons traveling to the city had to pass through checkpoint after checkpoint designed to trap East Germans fleeing to the West.

Ike Will Press Congress For Action On Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower soon will attempt to prod Congress into acting on his stalled legislative program and into killing what he considers budget-busting proposals sponsored by Democrats.

Republican congressional leaders announced the plan for a special message Tuesday after their weekly meeting with Eisenhower at the White House.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and Rep. Charles Halleck of Indiana, the GOP leaders, mentioned some of the things Eisenhower opposed but did not detail to reporters what he will press Congress to pass. They said he will list what he is for and what he's against.

Dirksen said the President is "quite sensitive" because Congress has been in session almost four months and has acted on only one major administration measure, the civil rights bill. The legislators plan to adjourn early in July before the national political conventions open.

Eisenhower is quite concerned, Dirksen said, that Congress so far has sidetracked many of his proposals. Dirksen mentioned only the $4,175,000,000 foreign aid program — which some members of Congress want to cut by 1½ billion dollars—and minimum wage legislation.

The administration proposes to extend the minimum wage to about 650,000 workers not now covered. It has opposed moves to raise the minimum wage from $1 to $1.25 an hour although Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell indicated last week a $1.10 or $1.15 minimum might be acceptable.

Nixon Will Be Ike's 'Stand-in' At Paris Parley

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon will become the American representative at next month's Paris summit conference if "domestic requirements" force President Eisenhower to return home, the White House said Tuesday.

Nixon's presence at the meeting with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev and other world leaders could prove to be a big boost or a big setback to his presidential election chances depending on the outcome of the summit meeting.

The White House said in a brief statement that Eisenhower was scheduled to visit Portugal seven days after the summit meeting opens May 16. If the meeting is still under way after his two-day visit, he may return to Paris or be succeeded there by Nixon if forced to return to the United States by "domestic requirements."

Nixon's aides said the vice president would have no comment.

Some diplomatic observers saw the move as a means of telling Russia this country is willing to continue talking if the Paris talks show signs of progress in easing East - West tensions.

Announcement of the Portuguese visit was seen in these same quarters as a way of heading off possible talk of an American walkout if the summit session still is in progress when Eisenhower has to leave for Lisbon.

The White House did not cite the reasons which might require the President's return to Washington.

Tumultuous Celebration Held In Seoul

Jubilant Students March Unchecked As Police Vanish

SEOUL (AP)—President Syngman Rhee has formally submitted his resignation, Foreign Minister Huh Chung said Wednesday.

The resignation was sent to the cabinet secretariat to be relayed to the National Assembly, Huh said.

The Assembly, which asked Rhee Tuesday to resign immediately, is expected to accept the resignation promptly.

Scores of thousands of Koreans joyously celebrated Wednesday the collapse of Rhee's 12-year-old regime as a liberation from dictatorship.

Uproariously jubilant students who led the unarmed revolt against the founder of the South Korean Republic now called for public calm to permit an orderly transition from autocracy to democracy.

A tumultuous 26 hours of steady rioting and demonstrations ended at curfew time Tuesday night with more than 100,000 Koreans crowding the streets of this capital to celebrate what they obviously regarded as an historic political victory.

Student demonstrators marched among the throngs shouting, "Rhee, resigned!" Others chanted, "We are free. We are free!"

It was agreed that a caretaker government, possibly to be headed by independent, 62-year-old Huh Chung, must take over and elections must be called within three months.

The National Assembly, backed by the students, had demanded that Rhee resign immediately. Its resolution was adopted Tuesday by the 140 members who showed up. It has 231 members.

Peter Kalischer, CBS correspondent who visited Rhee briefly, quoted the president as saying he probably would be a candidate again.

All through Tuesday students demonstrated and celebrated. Troops charged with enforcing martial law did little or nothing to check them. Police, hated by many Koreans as a symbol of repression, disappeared. Most apparently either fled Seoul or shed their uniforms, leaving law enforcement up to the army, which has been in charge since last week's "bloody Tuesday" riots precipitated the climactic crisis.

The Health Ministry reported at least 15 more persons died in Tuesday's riots and more than 170 were wounded. For the week of violence, the totals rose to at least 145 dead, by official count, and more than 800 wounded.

While mobs of cheering students sacked the home of Rhee's vice president-elect, Lee Ki-poong, Seoul waited anxiously to see what the pridefully stubborn, 85-year-old "George Washington" of South Korea would do. Some said he might wait at least two more days before bowing to the public clamor for his resignation. But most agreed he could not wait much longer for fear of rekindling the fury which made Seoul and four other Korean cities battlefields and brought martial law to the country.

Rhee's offer to resign if "the people want," his order to Lee to leave all public posts, his promise of new elections—with no date specified—and his promise of governmental reforms all were hailed by riotously joyful students as a monumental victory for this country's impatient younger generation.

The student celebrations involved an attack on a police station and the looting and sacking of Lee's home. Lee, Rhee's running mate in the March 15 elections, was credited with a landslide victory over the opponent who defeated him four years ago. Students, charging fraud and police coercion at the polls, made Lee their chief target in the demonstrations.

Marylander Killed In Truck-Car Crash

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP)—Lloyd E. Sanbower 39, of Boyds, Md. was killed instantly Tuesday night in the head-on collision of a pickup truck and car near here.

Montgomery County police said Sanbower was a passenger in the truck, driven by Walter P. Melvin, 51, also of Boyds.

Melvin and the driver of the car, Arthur E. Onley, 44, Negro, of Barnesville, suffered minor injuries.

Labor-Industry Summit Talks Promoted By Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower asked American business and organized labor Tuesday to arrange a series of summit peace conferences to assure better relations and the nation's economic growth.

After conferring at the White House with AFL-CIO President George Meany, Eisenhower said the government will help get the conferences going but then will let the participants negotiate on their own.

Eisenhower said he asked Meany—and will soon ask President Rudolph Bannow of the National Assn. of Manufacturers — each to designate three representatives to a conference planning group.

This committee would develop, without government help, an agenda for the conferences, additional participants to be invited, the time and place for the first meeting, and other matters.

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell, who attended the meeting, told newsmen he hoped the conferences would develop into a continuing mechanism for both sides to thresh out mutual problems.

"The success or failure will be up to labor and management themselves," Mitchell said. "It will be their responsibility."

Mitchell conceded that prior attempts at holding labor-management talks generally have failed. But he said he considered business and labor now are more mature and for that reason there is more reason to hope for success this time.

Lawyer Stabs Judge

HAVANA (AP)—An 80-year-old lawyer plunged a knife into the back of the presiding judge of Havana's 4th Court of Audience Tuesday. He claimed the judge refused to discuss a long-pending case. The lawyer was jailed pending recovery of the judge.

Prober Says Clark Handed Payola To DJs

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A House investigator charged Tuesday that television star Dick Clark handed payola to disc jockeys across the country to get them to play records in which he had a financial interest.

The charge was made by Robert W. Lishman, counsel of the subcommittee investigating Clark. The TV star, idol of the teenagers, previously was accused of accepting payola. This was the first time, however, he had been charged with being in the handout business.

Lishman was questioning Thomas Noonan, research director of billboard magazine, about Billboard's "hot 100," a rating of the most popular records based on sales and on their exposure over the air.

Noonan said he once had estimated that in a given week, the selection of records played on Clark's popular "American Bandstand" network program would have a weight of 2.336 per cent in determining billboard's "hot 100."

"Does this take into account that he or his companies paid payola to disc jockeys throughout the country in order to get their records played?" Lishman asked.

Noonan replied that it took into account only the records which were played over Clark's own show.

Lishman cast doubt on the validity of the 2.336 per cent figure as an indication of Clark's influence "if you don't know the extent of the payola he has paid to others." The subcommittee counsel did not elaborate further on the charge.

Bernard Goldstein, vice president of Computech, Inc., New York City, told the investigators Clark had an apparent financial stake in 27 per cent of the records he played on his program over a two-year period.

But Goldstein, who made a survey for Clark, said these same records scored an almost equal percentage in a popularity rating, indicating that Clark was not putting his own interest above the public taste in playing them.

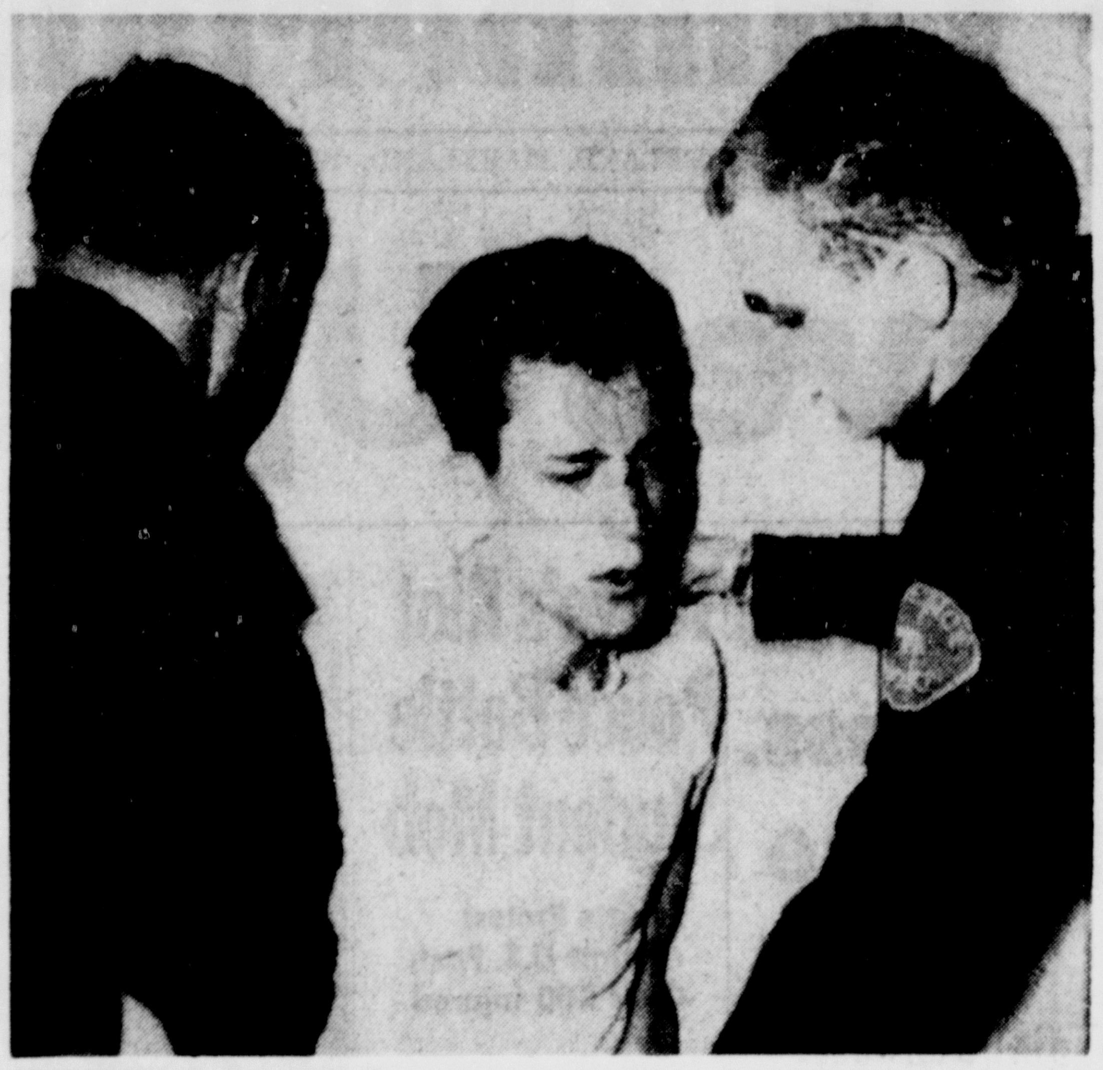
Ex-Cop In Fatal Fight Placed On Probation

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Baltimore Superior Court judge Tuesday placed a former New Jersey state policeman on probation ruling he was guilty of "a low degree of manslaughter."

William J. Phillips, 34, of Belvedere, N. J. had been found innocent by the judge on charges of murdering Daniel Barnhardt during a fight on a South Baltimore street last March 24.

Police said the fight occurred after a drinking party. Medical testimony showed the victim's skull to be abnormally fragile with the first blow probably causing a fatal concussion.

Judge J. Gilbert Prendergast sentenced Phillips to five years in the House of Correction, but suspended it and placed him under probation for three years.



SUSPECTED WIFE KILLER HELD — Marvin Taylor, 26, struggles with Torrance, Calif., police yesterday after his arrest on suspicion of murder. Officers said Taylor shot and killed his wife, Carole, 24, in a drunken rage. A half hour after she died, doctors delivered her of a baby boy by caesarian section. The baby was barely breathing and was given mouth-to-mouth resuscitation for 45 minutes until it could be placed in an incubator. (AP Photofax)

Army Honors Gen. Zwicker

FT. MEADE, Md. (AP) — Maj. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker, commander of the XX Army Corps with headquarters at Ft. Hayes, Ohio, was honored at a parade Tuesday marking his retirement the end of this month.

Gen. Zwicker, a native of Stoughton, Wis., with 33 years of military service, was presented a Distinguished Service Medal by Army Secretary Wilber M. Brucker.

The general figured prominently in the news six years ago when the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy tangled with him during Senate investigation of alleged communism in the Army.

McCarthy accused Zwicker, then a brigadier general and commander of Camp Kilmer, N. J., of approving an honorable discharge for a New York dentist the senator insisted was a "Fifth Amendment Communist."

Zwicker complained of being verbally abused at closed hearings.

The general was cited by Brucker today for his "long and distinguished performance of duty (which) reflects distinct credit upon himself and the military service."

The DSM is the nation's highest peacetime military award.

Sisters To Get Back Tax Paid In Error

HAGERSTOWN (AP)—Chances are very good that two sisters will get back $131 in taxes they shouldn't have had to pay to Washington County. They'll also probably get $90 in interest.

The Board of County Commissioners Tuesday turned the claim of Misses LaReine and Mary Bester over to the county attorney's office for settlement.

The sisters had petitioned the board for $131 in taxes and $90 interest. They pointed out the city in 1939 had condemned certain property owned by the father, William Bester. It was part of the land where municipal stadium now stands.

The Bester sisters said they were billed for the property year after year and went on paying taxes without knowing the city had taken it over.

Attorney Warren Stokes said that a statute of limitations would require paying only for three years, but he added the county certainly had a moral obligation to pay back the full amount.

U.S. Steel Earnings Show Sharp Increase

NEW YORK (UPI) — Giant United States Steel Corp. Tuesday reported sharply higher earnings of $112,578,752 or $1.87 a share for the first quarter of 1960.

Directors also retained the quarterly dividend at the 75-cent level paid since March of 1957.

Woman Charged With Kidnaping Her Daughter, 17

HAGERSTOWN (AP)—A middle aged woman was held in $1,500 bond for the grand jury Tuesday on charges of kidnaping her 17-year-old daughter.

The legal twist came about this way: Mrs. Lillian Pryor of Foxville, 48, had given up her daughter Irene Marie for adoption in 1957.

Things didn't work out for the girl at her new home, so the adopting mother, Mrs. Helen Ecton, permitted Irene to go to the home of a relative.

Mrs. Pryor was accused of taking the girl from that home.

Magistrate William J. Dwyer said at a preliminary hearing Tuesday he regretted having to hold Mrs. Pryor on the kidnaping charge. He said her guilt was technical at the most, but he admonished her. "You had no business giving the girl away to another family because of differences between you and your husband."

The woman told the court her husband, from whom she is estranged, did not like the girl and insisted she be placed elsewhere.

Rains Erase Fire Threat

By The Associated Press

Cooling thundershowers killed the threat of forest fires in the state Tuesday and brought welcome relief to brow - mopping Marylanders.

A storm that swept in from the west plunged mid-afternoon temperature readings by as much as 21 degrees.

A spokesman for the State Forestry Department said Tuesday night "everything is quiet" as far as the fire threat was concerned. Earlier in the day there had been reports of three fires on the Eastern Shore, two of them burning less than an acre of brush and woods.

For the fifth day in a row, the mercury hit 90 or more in Baltimore, setting an April record. From a high of 90 at 3 p. m., the thermometer plunged to 69 by 6 p. m.

As heavy clouds rolled over the city and doused the city with a heavy downpour, motorists had to turn on lights although sunset was two hours away.

Boston was once known as the "Athens of America."

Protestant, Jewish Clergymen Propose Plan For Birth Control

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Protestant and Jewish clergymen proposed Tuesday a birth control plan designed to appeal to those who have moral objections to medical contraception.

The proposal was made by the Clergymen's National Advisory Committee of the Planned Parenthood Federation of America. It hoped the plan would end the sharp religious dispute on the matter.

"We suggest," the committee said in a statement, "that our view and the opposing one on this subject need not continue to collide if three prerequisites are recognized."

The committee said they are that:

"All public programs of contraceptive information, service and research should exempt from participation anyone with ethical objections.

"Conversely, the objections of some must not be permitted to deprive others of contraceptive assistance which is scientifically authoritative, and which may be required to them when in conscience they believe birth control fulfills the will of God.

"Physicians, research scientists, clergy, medical workers and others connected with such program must be guaranteed full freedom to exercise their professional skills and discharge their professional responsibilities."

Although the committee did not name the Roman Catholic religion, which prohibits the use of contraceptive devices by married couples, it said "one large communion wishes to impose its view on those of other religious beliefs."

The committee acknowledged, though, that Catholics have every right to hold a different view in the matter of birth control.

The committee, formed last fall, has grown to 34 members with the Rt. Rev. James A. Pike, of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of California, San Francisco, as chairman.

Incumbents Win

SALISBURY (AP) — All three city councilmen were reelected to four-year terms Tuesday in Salisbury's municipal election.

The incumbents renamed are Democrats Richard M. Laws and W. Paul Martin Jr. and Republican Harry O. Fullbrook.

Laws, a grocer, led the ticket with 1,588 votes. Fullbrook, district manager of a chain store, was next with 1,285. Martin, who operates a beach shop in Ocean City, had 1,279.

Native Of Cresaptown Is Named Pastor Of New D.C. 4-Church Methodist Parish

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Rev. Edward B. Lewis, pastor of St. Paul's Methodist Church in Kensington, Md., has been named pastor of a new parish to be created from four Methodist Churches in Washington's Capital Hill area.

The appointment and the union of the churches will become effective June 12 at the 1960 session of the Baltimore Annual Conference, Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, bishop of the Washington area of the Methodist church, announced Tuesday.

The conference will be held June 8-12 at Western Maryland College in Westminster.

The Rev. Thomas Starnes, now pastor of the Wilson and North Carolina Avenue church in Washington, will be assistant pastor of the new parish.

The four churches uniting in the new parish are Wilson Memorial (756 11 St., SE), North Carolina Avenue (North Carolina Ave. and 8th St., SE), Trinity (309 5th St., SE and Waugh (3rd and A Sts., NE).

The Rev. Mr. Lewis, a native of Cresaptown, Md., has been pastor of the Kensington church for two years. Previously he had served as pastor of Union Methodist Church in downtown Washington for nine years. He was chaplain and director of the Wesley Foundation at George Washington University at the same time.

He is a graduate of American University and Iliff School of Theology in Denver, Colo., where he received his master of theology degree in 1948. He also attended Wesley Theological Seminary.

The Rev. Mr. Lewis has traveled widely for the church. In 1951 he visited 12 European countries for a seminar sponsored by the Methodist Board of World Peace. He traveled in more than 30 countries in 1957 on a mission to the Philippines.

NASA Makes $216,000 Grant To University

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—A grant of $216,000 to the University of Maryland has been made by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, it was announced Tuesday.

The grant is to speed up the program of basic research in the growth and metabolism of unicellular algae.

The university's department of botany, under direction of Dr. Robert W. Krauss, has been engaged in fundamental studies of algae for more than 10 years. These have included problems dealing with nutrition and maximum growth rates of many strains.

Dr. Krauss said the studies have been of particular interest in recent years as the space program stepped up and the challenge confronts scientists of how best to keep men in space for a long time.

The algae liberate oxygen and reduce carbon dioxide, which is the reverse process of human respiration.

Working with Dr. Krauss in the research are two faculty members of the botany department, Raymond Galloway.

D.C. Beltway Bids Opened

BALTIMORE (AP) — The State Roads Commission Tuesday reported an apparent low bid of $2,669,444.60 for construction work on a circumferential highway for the District of Columbia.

The bid for the Prince Georges County project was submitted by the Wright Contracting Co. of Odenton, Md.

The work includes grading, draining and surfacing 1.7 miles of dual lanes for the Capitol Beltway from east of Indian Head Highway to the yet-to-be-built Woodrow Wilson Memorial Bridge and .3 mile of dual lanes for the George Washington Memorial Parkway from the district line to the Capital Beltway.

The project also calls for construction of two interchanges, one at Indian Head Highway and one at the Washington Memorial Parkway, and three steel-beam bridges.

The apparent second low bid was submitted jointly by T.E. Ritter Corp. of Norfolk, Va. and J.O. & C.M. Stuart Inc. of Washington at $2,772,628, the SRC said.

The SRC said six bids were received with the highest from a Pennsylvania firm for $2,975,203.70.

Awards Contracts

WASHINGTON (UPI)— The Army has awarded Hercules Powder Co. a $9,170,000 contract for production of missile propellant and explosives and maintenance at the Radford, Va. arsenal. It also awarded Sperry Rand Corp. a $5,304,000 contract for research and development on the Sergeant missile.

Skit Portrays How Wayward Girl "Saved"

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP) — Another wayward juvenile girl was "saved" Tuesday by a community's efforts.

Maryland welfare workers meeting here watched the story of the girl who stepped off the straight and narrow path and was helped back.

The rehabilitation steps were presented in a series of skits before 250 delegates of the Maryland Conference of Social Welfare at Western Maryland College.

Each chapter of her story was told by the staff of the agencies involved — the school, juvenile court, child study center, training school, mental hospital and aftercare service.

The wayward girl was portrayed by Jill Brown, a sociology major at Western Maryland. The program was planned by James P. Earp, professor of sociology.

The court role was played by Judge Alfred D. Noyes of the People's Court for juvenile cases in Montgomery County.

Magistrates Named For Baltimore Court

BALTIMORE (AP)—Gov. Tawes Tuesday named Leon Abramson and J. Robert Brown to two newly created seats as associate magistrates of the Baltimore Traffic Court.

The appointments, effective immediately, raise the number of magistrates of the court to 10, including Chief Magistrate Paul A. Dorf.

The 55-year-old Abramson is a former president of the City Council and a former member of the House of Delegates. Brown, 33, has been general counsel of the Department of Employment Security for the past four years.

Brown also served as an assistant state's attorney in Baltimore for a three-year term.

The new magistrates will each receive a salary of $6,000 a year. Their appointments are effective until May 1, 1961.

Gandhi Battled S. Africa Apartheid 20 Years, Lost

By LYNN HEINZERLING

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Mohandas K. Gandhi, the Indian apostle of passive resistance, spent 20 years trying to break down South Africa's "white supremacy" fixation. He failed.

Gandhi, a young and not very successful lawyer, arrived from Bombay in 1893.

He was taking a job as a junior counsel in an Indian commercial firm at Durban at about $500 a year. He dressed in Western clothes of impeccable English cut.

Thousands of Indians had been pouring into Durban and the Natal colony since 1860. They were brought by the colonial government in an agreement with the Indian government, to work on sugar plantations.

The agreement said that after serving a five-year contract, the Indians could pursue whatever callings they desired. After 10 year's residence, if they did not wish to return to India, they were entitled to buy land.

The Indians, escaping poverty in one British territory, hoped they had found a promised land in another. They built up a flourishing sugar production in Natal and also worked on railroads and in the mines.

But in 1891 the British colony of Natal abruptly withdrew its promise of land and consigned thousands of Indians to the third class citizenship they have endured since that time.

There are now some 450,000 Indians in South Africa, most of them in Natal and Transvaal Provinces. The Orange Free State, first as a republic and later as a province, never admitted Indians.

Gandhi arrived two years after repeal of the land law. What he saw in Durban made him start his protest almost immediately.

Indians were known to British colonists as coolies. They could not walk the streets at night without a permit. They were shut out from the white man's life as much as possible.

Soon after his arrival Gandhi decided to fight and went to India to get his family, returning in 1897. He was attacked by a mob soon after his arrival and there were threats to burn down the house where he was staying.

In 1902 Gandhi set up offices in Johannesburg and began a campaign against the Transvaal registration laws. Every Indian man, woman and child over 8 was obliged to register and give fingerprints.

The "satyagraha" or "firmness in truth" was born. He formed a passive resistance association to boycott the registration officer. He surrendered to arrest freely and went to jail for two months.

In 1907 he organized a pass burning bonfire, the forerunner of many pass bonfires in South Africa in recent weeks. Under his leadership Indians were prepared to fill the prisons.

Gandhi obtained some concessions. Educated Indians were excused the fingerprint obligation. But an immigration act let the government refuse entrance to anyone on economic or social grounds. This meant Indians.

Then Gandhi renewed his passive resistance campaign. That led to strikes, new arrests and violence in Natal but brought minor concessions.

Gandhi, apparently seeing the handwriting on the wall, sailed in 1913 for India, urging his followers to keep up the fight.

No major concession has been made to Indians since then.

Oats Seeding Reduced In Central Maryland

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—A substantial reduction in the seeding of spring oats in the area west from Chesapeake Bay through Frederick County was reported Tuesday by the Maryland Crop Service.

In Washington, Allegany and Garrett counties where the crop normally is planted late, the service reported, that most farmers expect to get all their oats in the ground.

The crop survey is as of April 23. At that time, the service said rain was needed in all sections with Western Maryland ground being in the best shape.

Racial Problem, Which Once Split Methodist Church, At Top Of General Conference Agenda

By CLAIRE COX

NEW YORK (UPI) — One of the most important church meetings of the year and possibly of the decade, gets under way in Denver Wednesday.

The Methodist Church will hold a general conference attended by an estimated 800 leaders, equally divided between clergymen and laymen.

The church, with 10 million members is the largest single Protestant organization in the United States. A general conference is held every four years, to chart Methodist policies and courses of action.

At the top of the agenda this year is a controversy that once split the Methodist church — the Negro question. It was over that issue that Methodism split in the Civil War. A reunion did not come until 20 years ago, and the wounds still are not completely healed.

The organization of the Methodist Church is along the lines of the United States government, with legislative, judicial and executive branches. But it also has what are called jurisdictions, and they are at the heart of the church's racial problem.

There are five geographic jurisdictions, or administrative areas, and one central jurisdiction. This system was set up when the northern and southern Methodists were reunited in 1939. The country was divided equally, with the Methodists in each section electing their own bishops. This was done to assure southern Methodists that they would have an equal voice with Methodists in more heavily populated sections of the country.

The central jurisdiction covers the entire nation. It is exclusively for the 360,000 Negro Methodists in this largest Methodist organization.

The question at Denver will be whether to continue this segregated form of organization or whether to abolish the central jurisdiction and admit Negroes to membership in the five geographic jurisdiction.

Other topics to be discussed during the sessions in Denver will range from length of Sunday services to divorce and birth control. The church's stand on drinking also will be studied closely, with a possible decision on whether to chart a new course in Methodism's vigorous war on alcoholism.

Juvenile delinquency and the church's role in combatting it will be discussed, along with the closely related subject of adult delinquency. A whole series of social problems will be studied. Among them are automation, inflation, power blocs, civil liberties, statism and recent attacks on various Protestant clergymen, including Methodists, as being Communist tinged.

Methodists from every continent except Australia will participate in these discussions. Among them will be 88 delegates from overseas, some of them Negro, and about 48 American Negroes.

Airmen Turn Cave Explorers In Lake Search

CHIPLEY, Fla. (UPI)—A group of airmen explorers will climb down into a series of natural caverns here April 30 in search of a legendary underground lake which could be more than 250-feet beneath the surface.

The airmen, from Tyndall Air Force Base at Panama City, Fla., have already sought the underground body of water once, but were turned back at the 250-foot level by blocked tunnels.

Local legend has it the lake was discovered 70 or 80 years ago beneath a mysterious disappearing waterfall. It was described in old reports as about an acre in size, covered by a high vaulted ceiling.

No one has seen the lake in recent years, but a former resident said members of her family explored the caverns many years back.

Source of the lake itself is a tourist attraction. Locally the site is known as Falling Waters.

The fall drops 30-feet into a natural well which is 67-feet deep. From there no one is sure where the water goes, but one thing is certain — it disappears.

Some say the water reappears in local creeks and streams. Others say it shows up again in some of the large, clear springs that dot the area.

The explorers hope to find out.

To Sell Missile

LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan told Parliament Tuesday the United States has agreed to sell Britain the Skybolt missile which is expected to become Britain's No. 1 nuclear deterrent.

The Skybolt, still in the development stage, can be fired from planes. It will be fitted to Britain's "V-bomber," the Royal Air Force equivalent of the Strategic Air Command."

Woman To Woman

NEW YORK (UPI) — Brides-to-be and brides of yesteryear, hear this:

—The man in your life may never be able to tell you what sort of dress you were wearing at any special time. But he will remember that the way you looked made him proud of you—or just a little bit uncomfortable.

That's a fact of life to consider when shopping for clothes, says Eleanor Lambert, fashion service director of the label department of the International Ladies Garment Workers' Union.

In a new booklet published by the union, Miss Lambert suggests that you encourage your mate to tell you his views on your clothes.

"Note want he likes on others, too, not with resentment or jealousy, but as a guide for yourself," Miss Lambert advises in the booklet — "Your Trousseau and How To Plan It."

The fashion authority claims that most men do not like "big, busy prints in either daytime or house dresses; wild color combinations such as purple and yellow, shocking and green; short skirts that ride up over your knees when you walk."

The males also vote down "embarrassingly low necklines, freakishly tall or wide hats; tight slacks or shorts on the street; evening dresses that look like costumes with hoops, trains or panels that get stepped on."

Some clothes, however, have sure - fire man - appeal. Oddly enough, most of them are as essential to the well-planned wardrobe as meat and salad to the well-planned meal.

A typical, sure-fire man-appeal wardrobe cited by Miss Lambert includes—the good tweed suit, in an attractive color and a classic easy cut; the basic black dress with a pretty neckline and a neat waistline; the good-looking topcoat, especially the belted trench coat type; the sweater and skirt.

But that's not all. You need, too, the costume with the touch of white — say the suit with a fresh white blouse or dress with white collar and cuffs.

To complete the fashion-perfect picture, you also need a graceful chiffon evening dress and the slinky sheath dress — if your figure can wear it.

Newsmen Safe

SEOUL (UPI) — The safest thing to be in Tuesday rioting here was to be a foreign newsman, especially American.

Anywhere a foreign newsman went he was not only given freedom of action, he was assisted by the demonstrators and the soldiers.

Everywhere that a newsman was spotted in the midst of the demonstrators, there were shouts of "newspapermen—help clear the way."

Million To Crowd Route Of Royal Wedding Party

LONDON (UPI) — Nearly one million persons are expected to crowd the short three-quarter mile route Princess Margaret will take to and from Westminster Abbey on her wedding day.

From the gates of her home, Clarence House, there is a narrow street, almost a lane, that runs for a brief 50 yards before it enters the Mall — the great half-mile long processional avenue which runs from Buckingham Palace to Trafalgar Square.

Just before the end of the Mall the procession will swing right and down into and across the broad Horse Guards parade ground in which several hundred thousand spectators can be packed. It is the largest cleared open space in London.

The procession will then funnel through the narrow arched passageway under the clock tower of the old Horse Guards Building and out into Whitehall.

Here the route is more confined with tall government buildings on each side and room for spectators only on the sidewalks. It is only a brief 200 yards, and halfway down Whitehall changes its name to Parliament Street.

Then round Parliament Square with towering Big Ben clock tower and the houses of Parliament on the left, and the princess is at the door of Westminster Abbey.

The return route the princess and her new husband will take is the same except that instead of stopping at Clarence House, they will continue another 200 yards down the Mall to Buckingham Palace for the wedding breakfast.

Bi-County Women Meet

The Farm Queen Contest was discussed and "Pennies for Friendship" changed to the International Fund at the executive meeting of the Associated Women of the Garrett-Allegany County Farm Bureau held at Grantsville Evangelical Reformed Church. Beginning with a luncheon served by the women of the church, Mrs. Orville Glotfelty was in charge.

Mrs. John D. Young presided. It was explained that the International Fund is to bring students from foreign countries to visit farms and experimental stations. The aim this year is to bring a farm woman from Hawaii.

It was decided that there are no suggestions to improve the state convention. Objectives of the state Farm Bureau, it was pointed out, is to provide leadership in building a more effective bureau, to preserve individual freedom and expand opportunities in agriculture.

The Allegany Farm Queen contest and Farm Bureau picnic plans will be formulated at the meeting of the Allegany County group May 24.

Carroll Leatherman, field representative, was guest speaker. He urged the women to vote in favor of the two amendments which will be on the ballot this fall; and to write their Congressmen to vote against the Forand bill, the Johnson sanitation bill for a standard price of milk all over the United States; and wheat control.

Attending from Garrett County were Mrs. Glotfelty, state director; Mrs. Leslie Guard, Mrs. Walter Margroff, Mrs. Guy Stanton, Mrs. Maurice Beeche, Mrs. Lawrence Brennenare, Mrs. Willard Swartztruber, Mrs. Arthur Llewellyn and Mrs. H. G. Gortner. Tea Planned, Club Chosen For Short Course Delegate

Arrangements for the annual tea were made and delegates were chosen at the meeting of the Rural Women's Short Course Club conducted by Mrs. John Beckman Monday evening in the fiesta room of Central YMCA.

The annual tea and a short business session will be held June 7 at the Woman's Civic Club house. It will be from 1 until 3 p. m. Miss Mary Wise will give a demonstration on packing a suitcase. Mrs. Glenn Diehl is chairman for the tea and will be assisted by members of the Mapleside Club.

As customary the club will send a freshman to College Park for Short Course. The Oldtown Club was chosen, with Happy Valley and Lonaconing clubs, second and third choice respectively. The club delegate is to give her report of her accomplishments at Short Course at the fall meting of the RWSC Club. It will be at Central YMCA September 29 in the form of a dinner at 6:30. Mrs. William Flora was named general chairman for the dinner, assisted by Mrs. Fred Gates Jr. Mrs. Paul Golford is in charge of the program.

An identification for Allegany County at Short Course was discussed. Miss Wise pointed out that the county has taken more prizes with honey than any other county in the state, so it was decided to have the honey bee identify the Allegany clubs. Mrs. Forrest Snider and Mrs. Ruth Taschenberger, chairmen of the art committee, were asked to design the badges. They will be distributed at the tea. Mrs. Irene MacDonald was named in charge of room assignments.

Mrs. Douglas Smith, chairman of the state RWSC committee, talked on the history of Short Course and what is gained by those attending it. She also explained a land grant college. Mrs. Smith has written a "Short Course Story," which has been sent to all counties in the state. It is stressed that Short Course is for everyone and not just members of homemakers clubs.

The 34th RWSC will be held June 20-25 at the University of Maryland. Besides speakers at assemblies there will be classes in nutrition, home management, clothing, 4-H leadership, family life, music, home furnishing, public speaking, press, radio and TV, landscaping, parliamentary law and international relations. Because of requests, one of the tours this year will be to see the stage show, "My Fair Lady." Entertainment will include a concert by the United States Marine Band and the WAVE choral group.

The meeting opened with group singing led by Mrs. Gilford. Meetings will be resumed September 29 following the summer recess.

Want to drop two inches from your waistline? It's easy!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Six Weeks To A Slimmer Waistline

Would you like to see your waistline shrink an inch or two? Six weeks will turn that dream into a reality — six weeks of the following three exercises each day and never more than 1500 calories a day. Interested? Then here are the waist slimmers:

1. Lie on your back with your legs and arms outstretched in a V. Briskly rising from the hips, touch your right hand to your left toe. Very, very slowly, return to the prone position. Let your back down gently, flattening it out against the floor inch by inch from the hips to the shoulders. Repeat, touching the left hand to the right toe. As a starter, for the first week, ten times each day is enough. Gradually increase until you can perform the exercise twenty times a session with ease. It's a good hip and abdomen trimmer, too!

2. Kneel with your back erect (as when standing), your arms touching your sides, and relaxed. Without lowering your hips and pulling your abdomen in as hard as you can, try to touch your right fingertips to the floor at a point (close to your legs. Come back to starting position and try with your left fingertips. Always alternating sides, repeat thirty times. Though you don't succeed at first, keep on trying and you'll be well on your way to a smooth, hand-span waist.

3. Stand in your best posture and reach for the ceiling with both arms. Imagine that you are reaching for a box on the top shelf of your closet (the one you need a step-stool for.) Try first to grasp the imaginary box with your right hand and then with the left. Without standing on tiptoe, make each reach a little higher. Feel a pull in your waist or you won't be getting the slimming effect you desire. Five minutes of this exercise properly done and you can take your belt in a notch! Yes, actually — because you'll be standing pulled tall and that's the biggest secret of a slim waist!

TOMORROW: Watch Your Time.

Court Upholds Tax Ruling

The Maryland Tax Court, in a decision handed down Monday, affirmed a property assessment in the appeal of Robert Goldfine, The Dingle, against the Board of Allegany County Commissioners and Supervisor of Assessments Somerville Nicholson.

The assessment in dispute was the valuation of a new dwelling located at 824 Windsor Road, The Dingle.

Milton Gerson, local attorney, represented the petitioner and Lawrence F. Rodowsky, of the Maryland Law Department, represented the county and the supervisor.

The case was heard in Baltimore April 13 and was the first appeal from Allegany County to the new Maryland Tax Court.

Papers filed in the case stated the assessed valuation of the land was $3,745 and the residence, $16,050, for a total of $19,785.

Lonaconing Asks For Tax Transcript

The town of Lonaconing has requested the Allegany County Board of Commissioners to furnish the community with a transcript of the tax assessment for property owners of the community.

The letter requesting the transcript was signed by Calvin James, town clerk.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN: How far does "Love thy neighbor" go anyway?

The woman next door is a scatterbrain who dumps her problems on anyone handy. Every year she has a new baby. Without warning I'm stuck with her kids whenever she goes to the hospital.

This morning at 1 a. m. she and her husband appeared at our front door with their four little ones. We've known since December she was pregnant. They acted as if they'd just found it out. We couldn't turn them down at that hour so now I have HER four and my three!

Last year I hinted strongly that she couldn't count on me again because I have neither the space nor the strength. She had nine months to make other arrangements. What shall I do next year? I've had it.—EASY MARK

DEAR EASY: Tell her well in advance and stop hinting. Remind her from time to time and if necessary offer to help line up a housekeeper who can take over on a moment's notice.

DEAR ANN: I'm a girl 18 who is very much in love with a boy 19. We plan to be married in a few years.

Our biggest problem centers around sex. It's not his fault, or mine either. We both try very hard to control ourselves. So far we haven't lost our heads completely, but we're getting close to the line.

Maybe I'm stupid but why is it wrong when two people are in love? Everyone says it's wrong, but no one says WHY. We respect each other and plan to be married.

If I had a daughter and she asked me why it's wrong to give yourself before marriage I couldn't tell her. Can you tell me?—PAT

DEAR PAT: It's wrong because it violates the moral code. The primary purpose of complete physical love is to bring children into the world.

Premarital experimentation can be dangerous because couples sometimes change their minds and don't marry after all.

This can be a devastating experience. My desk is always piled high with letters from heartbroken girls who were left flat because they had no more to give. They never thought it could happen to them — but it did. Frequently these girls are pregnant, and needless to say, these letters are the most tragic of all.

If it's really love it is also respect and consideration. And it can wait for full expression. Of course this takes control, but this is part of being civilized, mature and self-disciplined.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband is a devoted Landers fan. Please tell him off in your inimitable style so I can shove the paper in his face and say, "SEE!"

We've been married five years and have never had any trouble until last week. He is trying to teach me to drive. Suddenly I'm the dumbest woman who ever lived. He claims I'll never learn to handle a car because I have "slow reflexes and a limited mentality."

Deep down I feel HE is at fault because he's a poor teacher and has no patience. Please tell HIM. —STRIPPED GEARS

DEAR GEARS: I'll tell you both. A smart wife:

(1) Never interrupts her husband when he's telling a joke.

(2) Never plays bridge with her husband.

(3) Never lets her husband teach her to drive.

CONFIDENTIAL TO NO HOPE LEFT: You wouldn't take medicine prescribed for someone else would you? Well why take advice prescribed for a woman who is 20 years younger, divorced and alcoholic?

Are you tempted to smoke because the crowd does? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Teen-age Smoking," enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Pinball Machine Case Taken To High Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court Monday was asked to review and overturn a Pennsylvania Supreme Court decision that pinball machines are gambling devices which may be seized and destroyed.

The request was made in an appeal filed by attorney Anthony Cavalcante of Uniontown, Pa., on behalf of American Legion Post No. 51. Pinball machines in the post home and other places were seized by Pennsylvania State Police on June 20, 1957.

Post No. 51 contested the seizure, but lost in the superior and supreme courts of Pennsylvania.

The appeal to the highest tribunal contended Pennsylvania law as construed to authorize seizure and destruction of the post's machines was repugnant to the due process of law guaranteed by the U. S. Constitution.

Birds that fly south for the winter carry as much as one-third of their total weight in fat, compared with seven per cent for non-migrating birds.

Witt Given Three Years In Club Entry

A 20-year-old former Mt. Savage man, a parolee from a federal penitentiary, was sentenced to a term of not more than three years in the Maryland Reformatory for breaking into a building at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Charles Edward Witt agreed to be tried in Allegany County Circuit Court before Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris on information furnished by the state's attorney's office.

Witt through his court appointed attorney, Hugh A. McMullen, entered a guilty plea to a charge of breaking and entering the building in which the Shrine Wrecking Crew kept its supplies and equipment on the early morning of April 8.

The state, through assistant state's attorney Donald W. Mason, dismissed two other counts of larceny and receiving stolen goods.

Mason told the judge Witt had signed a confession admitting breaking into this one building four times this month.

The first time he took 100 minature bottles of whisky valued at $25; an electric percolator valued at $18, a hot plate worth $15 and $20 in cash on April 8.

On Wednesday, April 13, he used a pick to break the locks on the door of the same building and took $12 in cash.

Other breaking and enterings were on April 15 when he took three or four dollars; April 17, four or five dollars, and April 19.

Mason pointed out that on the early morning of April 19, Witt was caught in the act by two members of the Wrecking Crew, Arthur Carscaden and Charles Dicks. The crew had been taking turns staying in the building each night.

Witt's record with the law started July 7, 1954 as a youngster of 14 when he was tried in Allegany County Juvenile Court on a charge of indecent exposure and assault. He was given a suspended sentence.

On January 5, 1955, he was sent to the Maryland Training School for Boys after being found guilty in Juvenile Court on a charge of larceny of the home of a Mt. Savage school teacher.

He enlisted in the Army in 1956, Mason said, and on January 8, 1957, he was arrested in Colorado on a charge being AWOL, burglary and violation of the Dyer Act (federal law concerning interstate transportation of a stolen auto.)

On February 18, 1957, he was sentenced to the Colorado state reformatory on the burglary charge. On December 2, 1957, he was tried in federal court in Denver and sentenced to an indefinite term in the federal reformatory at Inglewood, Col.

On April 17, 1958, he was transferred to the federal reformatory at Petersburg, Va., and February 20 this year he was placed on parole until 1964.

A native of Cresaptown, Witt who was reared in Mt. Savage, returned in March to Cumberland where he obtained a room in Central YMCA.

He told police that he drank the 100 miniatures, spent the cash, but they recovered the coffee pot and hot plate in his room.

Mason pointed out that his office had notified the federal probation officer for this area of Witt's violation of his federal parole, but the officer was out of town.

By coincidence, the officer, Paul S. Kidder, Baltimore, happened to be in Cumberland and read where Witt was to be tried today and he was present in the court room.

Two Named To Board

William S. Jenkins, attorney, and Frank Hines, electrical engineer, will be formally named to the board of governors of Miners Hospital in Frostburg by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners in a few weeks.

Commissioner John J. Rowan, board president, said the two men had been selected and will be officially appointed as soon as the incorporation of the non-profit organization to operate the hospital is completed.

Leslie J. Clark, board attorney, said he will have the incorporation papers ready by May 5. The deadline for the state withdrawal from administration of the hospital and financing is July 1.

The two new hospital officials were selected by Commissioners Rowan and John T. Mason. The selection by Commissioner William A. Wilson was given to the Mayor and Council of Frostburg for action. Commissioner Rowan is automatically a member of the board of governors due to his position as president of the county board.

Jenkins has been practicing law in Cumberland and Frostburg for many years and is also a businessman. Hines is employed at the Celanese Fibers Company's Amcelle plant. Both reside in Frostburg.

County Asks For Survey On Hospitalization Plans

A check of hospitalization and surgical benefits for county employes is being made to determine if the county can economize in this field, representatives of the Maryland Hospital Service were informed yesterday by the Board of Allegany County Commissioners .

John J. Rowan, board president, said no bids have been asked for hospitalization, but a survey is being conducted on various programs.

In any event, county employes will be covered by some plan, he emphasized.

Some features of Blue Cross and Blue Shield plan were revealed by John M. T. Finney, enrollment director of the hospital service, and Philmore Fleming, representative of the nonprofit organization in this section.

Finney pointed out to the commissioners that Blue Cross paid out in 1959 more in hospital benefits for county employes than was paid in premiums.

Under the county setup, the county pays half of the insurance for each active employe who in turn pays the other 50 per cent.

Retired workers are kept in the plan, but they pay all of their premiums.

The hospital service, Finney said, paid out 190 per cent of the total premium received.

While this represents a loss, he explained that the county policy is a pool-rated plan which is for large employers and municipal and county governments where there is employe-employer participation.

Those creating a loss to the hospital service are carried by the groups having a good experience rating.

Finney asserted that the Blue Cross charges are representative of hospital costs, which have continued to rise in Maryland.

The rate increased the past two years because hospital charges have gone up. Mainly, he said, the increase is due to higher wages for hospital employes.

The commissioners were informed Friday by a representative of Connecticut General Insurance Company that a program could be worked out whereby the active employes could be kept on one policy and the retired workers, who create the high experience rating, on another at reduced benefits.

Finney said today Blue Cross rates would be the same for all, regardless of the division of the two groups.

The rates are determined on a statewide basis from total charges as the hospital service is a non-profit organization, he added.

The meeting concluded with Rowan explaining that Commissioner John T. Mason is looking into the insurance program and will make a report soon after he conducts his investigation.

Rowan Tired Of Phone Calls

Attorney John Sullivan appeared before the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday to complain of the manner he had been treated in making a request concerning the use of a playing field at the County Farm.

Sullivan said a letter which requested the use of the field on behalf of the Columbia Street Athletic Association was "crumpled up and dropped on a desk." This took place prior to the regular board meeting.

Commissioner John J. Rowan said he had crumpled up the letter because "I'm getting sick and tired of all the phone calls and complaints over the use of the field." Rowan said the previous board of commissioners had granted authority for use of the field to George Pfeiffer, a Cumberland police officer, who manages a baseball team.

Any arrangement for use of the field will have to be made with Pfeiffer, according to Rowan. The commissioners also said that if any further trouble results over the field perhaps the board will have to stop all groups from using the farm property.

Rowan said that if Sullivan was offended then he was offering an apology.

UCT To Attend Church Sunday

Cumberland Council 179, United Commercial Travelers of America, will observe its annual Memorial Day Sunday by attending morning worship services in a body.

Members of the council will meet at the Court House at 10:40 a. m. and will march to the newly constructed St. Paul's Lutheran Church, where Rev. John F. Sammel, pastor, is to deliver an appropriate sermon.

UCT councils in the United States and Canada annually attend a church in their respective communities about this time of year. A Sunday, which does not conflict with Easter and Palm Sunday services, yet is near the anniversary of the death of Charles Barton Flagg on April 9, 1901, is always selected. Mr. Flagg was the first supreme secretary of the order.

William M. Craze, senior counselor and H. C. Harclerode, secretary of the local council, said yesterday a large attendance is expected Sunday. James H. Brant has been appointed marshal, and flowers will be distributed to each member at the Court House.

Truck License Deadline Near

Allegany County Tax Collector William B. Orndorff yesterday reminded truck owners that midnight Saturday is the deadline for use of expiring Maryland truck tags.

Mr. Orndorff's office at the Court House has sold some 1,200 sets of tags for privately-owned trucks and about 50 sets of farm truck tags. They are the only truck tags available at the Court House.

During April, about 1,000 sets of new automobile tags have been sold despite the fact that midnight March 31 was the deadline for displaying the old tags. These tags have been bought by new car purchasers, some young car owners who had trouble scraping together the necessary funds and some two-car families which were in no hurry to obtain the second set of licenses.

The tax collector's office is open from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m. weekdays and from 9 a. m. until noon on Saturdays.

County Civil Service Deadline Is Today

Today at 3 p.m. is the deadline for applying for four Allegany County Civil Service examinations to be given next week.

The applications are to be turned in to Mrs. Joan S. Burke, secretary to the Civil Service Commission, on the second floor of the Court House.

Three of the four tests involve positions in the county tax collector's office and the fourth is for a mechanic in the County Roads Department. The other tests are for deputy collector, chief tax clerk and tax clerks. Examinations for the deputy and for the chief clerk will be given Monday at 7:30 p.m. but the location is uncertain. The other two examinations are scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 4, at Fort Hill High School.

Mrs. Lindsay pointed out that the basic course offers foundations in philosophy, principles, concepts and purposes of the organization.

It also includes a job analysis of the executive's position and training in essential administrative skills required of the position. Information on the course was received from the RC Eastern Area Office in Alexandria.

Subsidies For The Airlines

Aviation industry sources predict the Civil Aeronautics Board will be forced to raise domestic passenger fares to head off a flock of subsidy applications from hard-pressed air carriers. Airline bookings in the first months of 1960 were down from their expected rate. The worst weather in a decade, a softening in the economy, and a loss of public confidence in air safety are blamed.

Capital Airlines has petitioned the C.A.B. for a $12,949,000 subsidy for the year ending March 15, 1961. Capital, which says it lost $3,950,000 in the first two months of 1960, is being sued by Vickers-Armstrongs, Ltd., for nearly $12 million overdue payments on Viscount planes. All 12 long-haul trunk airlines lost around $9 million in January-February this year, compared with a net profit of $1,300,000 a year earlier.

All the trunk airlines currently are off subsidy; most have been since 1951. Small "feeder" airlines still depend on the federal handouts. Payments to these small carriers in fiscal 1961 are expected to total $69 million.

The C.A.B. for the past eight months has been mulling over its examiner's recommendation that the airlines be permitted to add $1 per ticket to their fares, an increase of less than two per cent. The majority of the trunk carriers claim this recommended increase will not be adequate.

Two C.A.B.-ordered increases in 1958 raised the passenger fare level 10 per cent, but failed to remedy the economic troubles that plague the airlines in a period of high-cost transition to the jet age. Capital's current financial crisis is, as the airline puts it, "merely a more vivid and painful example of a situation which is beginning to confront the rest of the industry."

Soviet Problems

Every country has problems but our own always look worse. In a period of transition, when great political, social and economic changes affect every country, when the world is stunned by a racial upheaval such as has never before been witnessed, no country is free from difficulties. Soviet Russia is no exception. Whereas geographically Soviet Russia is the most blessed of countries, the heartland of the Eurasian continent, it nevertheless has a boundary of about 37,500 miles to defend, a boundary that is in very few places assisted by nature but which too often abuts on peoples who prefer to be free.

Another problem that faces Soviet Russia is the demographic complex that forms that empire, the people being of various races, social customs, economic habits, from nomads to highly urbanized machine laborers. Whereas the Russian population has increased since 1938 by the accretion of territory, it had declined by an estimated 50 per cent in birth-rate during the war years. In a word, while such a country like China is stimulating its birth-rate by every propagandistic means, Soviet Russia has suffered war casualties, inadequate diet, separation of families, etc. Stalin's attempt to move families away from their homes and his separation of husband and wife have taken their toll in population decrease.

It is estimated by experts that between 1960 and 1964, Soviet Russia will not be able to increase its production and its armed forces because of a lack of manpower. It is the population figures that have influenced Khrushchev to reduce his military manpower and to fight so hard for disarmament. Those who have always spoken so glibly about Soviet realism cannot now attribute Khrushchev's disarmament to idealism. It is the same old realism. Until 1964, he does not have the wherewithal to produce the hardware for a war; therefore until that year, he is strongly in favor of "peaceful coexistence."

Mao Tze-tung is willing to lend Khrushchev all the manpower Russia may require. It would mean nothing to Red China to send 100,000,000 men and women to work in Soviet Russia. This would even improve the condition of China by reducing the size of its population; thus making the problem of the rice supply less severe. However, those whom Mao would supply would be Chinese men and women, organized into Chinese work battalions, speaking Chinese, living under Chinese Communist supervision. This offer was made to Stalin as far back as the plan for the rebuilding of the Caspian area. I wrote about this in the early 1950's but lost the story in the silence concerning it in both Soviet Russia and Red China.

Apparently the Russians were frightened by it, frightened by the concept of a dense, well-organized Chinese state inside Soviet Russia. And obviously Khrushchev is scared of it. Let us imagine what it would mean to have 100,000,000 Chinese living between Irkutsk and Vladivostock. In effect that would mean that all of Siberia would become Chinese. In a matter of 20 years, the Chinese population there would at least double.

Chinese population increase is simple: if birth control is not used, because despite all efforts at social change, the Chinese do not normally believe in monogamy and do not practice it. In my experience, I have encountered otherwise devout Chinese Christians who practiced polygamy. That was, of course, in pre-Communist China, but the population figures of Red China, if at all believable, would indicate that polygamy must still be practiced. Polygamy may not be practiced openly under the Communists.

The serious question that the United States faces at the Summit Conference is whether it will be bound by the British attitude which is appeasement for the sake of trade; or the Franco-German attitude that Soviet Russia must win no more victories; or some policy of our own not yet enunciated and probably not yet formulated. The question that arises in the layman's mind is how well documented is the above information which I believe to be true and whether the President will pay any attention to it. At Teheran and Yalta, President Roosevelt lacked a knowledge of European geography and he always did not understand the Aesopian language of Communism. He therefore was tricked by Stalin. Most of our present troubles in Europe have come out of Yalta where Roosevelt made so many mistakes.

Did Adlai Stevenson Predict GOP Victory?

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Adlai Stevenson in a speech the other day came near to predicting a Republican victory in the presidential election next November. He didn't do it intentionally, of course, and the paragraph in his address to the American Society of Newspaper Editors in which he conveyed that impression didn't get any emphasis in the press the next morning. But it's the key to the American electorate's attitude as of today, which strongly resembles what happened in Great Britain a year ago when the conservatives won the national election despite the widely acknowledged fact that supporters of the Socialist Labor had previously outnumbered them by a wide margin.

"We are, I think, witnessing," said Mr. Stevenson, "something new here in the democracies of the West. In the past, critics of social evils, of obvious injustice or privilege or oppression could mobilize behind their protest something like a majority vote. Most people were poor and oppressed and helpless. The vote was their first instrument to register their protest, the first force, other than violence, given them to redress their wrongs.

"But our modern mass electorates are verging on the comfortable — and to many, freedom has come to mean freedom from political responsibility. 'Don't let them take it away' — with all the connations of conservatism (and distasteful memories for me) — is more appealing than 'let's build a better world.' The engine of social progress has run out of fuel — the fuel of discontent. I suspect all three of us here today have found how difficult it is to struggle for change and challenge and reform as the waves of affluence and the high tide of consumption breaks over the modern electorate."

Mr. Stevenson had alongside him at the meeting of the editors Hugh Gaitskell, who leads the British Labor Party, and Lester B. Pearson, who is the leader of the political opposition to the Conservatives in Canada. Mr. Stevenson unwittingly perhaps was trying to draw a parallel on the basis of what has long been known in politics as the doctrine of economic content or discontent. Opposition parties win overwhelmingly when there is depression or recession, or when some emotional issue arises in relation to peace or war, or there are charges of lack of integrity that seem persuasive to the electorate. Candidates, however well qualified, cannot successfully buck that tide.

Now Mr. Stevenson, whose advisers have doubtless been taking soundings and polls, is disturbed because of the "waves of affluence and the high tide of consumption" in America. He says it is difficult for dissenters to be given a hearing. They don't seem to be able as yet, at least, to organize an effective protest. They have, of course, tried with such subjects as the missile gap, Russia's achievements with the "Sputnik," and the supposed lack of interest in social-welfare legislation by the Republicans. None of these arguments has as yet clicked, and that's what may be read between the lines of Mr. Stevenson's speech.

Incidentally, the former Illinois Governor is smarting still over his 1956 defeat and allowed his emotions to get the better of his judgment in one part of his speech last week as he complained that President Eisenhower today is embracing the very policy on banning nuclear tests that he, Mr. Stevenson, was criticized for proposing at the meeting of the American Society of Editors in April 1956. But the newspaper clippings are still available, and they show that the former Illinois Governor suggested in 1956 a "unilateral" suspension of all tests by the United States. This meant that the United States would stop all tests irrespective of any agreement whatsoever by the Soviets. He said then that, if the Russians persisted in testing, "We will know about it and we can reconsider our policy."

The facts are that the current negotiations for banning nuclear tests above ground provide for certain written pledges by both sides. As for tests below ground, this is still an unsettled problem and, while each side is to agree on its own to refrain from certain of these tests for a brief period, this is conditioned so far as America is concerned upon an accord in many other categories. It is part of an over-all package. If Mr. Stevenson was trying to say that there is at present a proposal "unilaterally" to refrain on a certain type of test, he has a point, but this can hardly be compared to what was suggested by the Illinois Governor in 1956. It will be recalled that Senator Clinton Anderson, Democrat, chairman of the Congressional Joint Committee on Atomic Energy, also criticized and vigorously dissented from Mr. Stevenson's proposition in 1956.

This very controversy raised by Mr. Stevenson illustrates why the aspirants for the Democratic presidential nomination this year are having a hard time mobilizing supporters for their protests among the independent-minded voters. The public is interested in pocketbook issues and human issues such as whether peace has been advanced or retarded. Thus far the Republicans have the psychological advantage in their slogans: "We're giving you peace and prosperity," and "This is no time for change."

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

NIXON PLANS — Vice President Richard M. Nixon is keeping in closest touch with the political situation in the Republican party and is busy planning a stepped-up pre-convention political campaign.

Nixon is keenly aware of his slipping popularity in the public opinion polls and the threat of a politically resurgent Nelson A. Rockefeller if the idea that he can't win in November ever begins to catch on.

Nixon knows that most politicians in his party want a winner and that all of his hard work will go down the drain, promises notwithstanding, if party leaders become convinced that another candidate would have a better chance of capturing the White House.

Since the Wisconsin primary election, where he won only 29 per cent of the total vote cast, Nixon and his aides have been the source of inspired stories that he is not changing his campaign strategy. However, even while these stories were being spoon-fed to selected correspondents, he and his assistants have been mapping a stepped-up travel and speaking schedule in advance of the July convention.

This is not to say that Nixon has decided to take to the political trail. It does mean, though, that he is ready to do so, is aware of the threat he faces, and is going to fight all the way to preserve his position as the only Republican presidential candidate on the horizon.

Newborn Babies Can Have Peptic Ulcers

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Peptic ulcer occurs in infants and children as well as in grown-ups. This may come as a surprise to those who think these lesions are restricted to high-strung, overworked business men.

Dr. Robert B. Tudor of Bismarck, N. D., has seen 90 youngsters with ulcer in the last 11 years. The youngest was 1 day old. Dr. Tudor would like to establish a registry of children with peptic ulcer, to correlate all the knowledge of this disease in the small fry.

A 3-year-old boy was taken to the outpatient department of a large hospital because of stomachache of several days duration. He looked the picture of health and no abnormalities could be found. X-rays were not suggested because the possibility of peptic ulcer never entered the physicians mind.

The mother was instructed to make certain changes in diet and report back in a week. Pain persisted despite these recommendations and was appearing at night also. X-rays showed peptic ulcer. The boy was given a bland diet, a sedative, and belladonna. By the end of a month his ulcer had healed.

The youngster with peptic ulcer usually has abdominal pain but it is poorly defined and is not typical of ulcer or any specific abdominal disorder. Food relieves distress in some but aggravates it in others. Discomfort generally is of short duration and tends to come and go. Vomiting occurs in others and the stools may be black if there is internal bleeding.

X-ray is needed to clinch the diagnosis. These lesions respond rapidly to frequent feedings of bland food along with antacids and antispasmodics. An effort must be made to eliminate anxieties and worries that might be playing a causative role. In others infection is responsible; epidemics of peptic ulcer in infants have been reported.

RHEUMATOID ARTHRITIS

Mrs. M. S. writes: I am 41 years old and in terrible pain all the time. A doctor is sure I have rheumatoid arthritis. How can he be so positive without blood tests and X-rays?

REPLY

Rheumatoid arthritis offers many telltale signs that distinguish it from other types of arthritis, except gout. The tests substantiate the diagnosis and help determine the extent of the damage and the infective process.

TRIGGER FINGER SHOTS

C. M. writes: My doctor wants to give me injections for trigger fingers (the pinkie and ring finger). Do you think this treatment will do any good?

REPLY

What kind of injections? Splinting the fingers helps the majority. As a rule, surgery is advised for those who are not relieved within three weeks by simpler measures.

SLIM RESULTS

H. L. F. writes: I've been on a 750 calorie a day diet for three weeks and have lost only 1½ pounds. What am I doing that's wrong?

REPLY

Probably miscounting your calories. Almost everyone will lose weight on a 750 calorie diet unless they live in a state of hibernation.

NEEDS SIESTA

Mrs. H. C. writes: Why is it that after having lunch I could go right to sleep? This happens whether I have a large or small meal. What do you think is the trouble?

REPLY

It is normal to feel drowsy after eating. But the opportunity to take a nap is a luxury.

SKIN CANCER

Mrs. C. S. writes: What can I put on my mother's skin cancer to cure it?

REPLY

Put on her hat and coat and take her to see a physician. These lesions are removed by radiation or surgery.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Press photographers are a tough-skinned breed and let nothing stand in their way when they're after a picture. When Khrushchev visited San Francisco last fall a lens lion became embroiled in a battle with a butcher. "What was it about?" asked a colleague later. "He got sore about nothing," protested the photog. "I was just standing in his meat on the counter."

In the crush, another photog climbed over a recumbent female. "She's fainted," a reporter pointed out. "Either that," said the photog, adjusting his lens, "or she's on sale."

Catholics In Maine Don't Help Sen. Kennedy In West Virginia

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — While vigorous young Jack Kennedy has been telling West Virginia voters that religion should not be injected into politics, some of his fellow Catholics in Maine have been demonstrating how religion is injected into politics.

In Bangor, Maine, seven Catholic priests refused to give either invocation or benediction at the Republican State Convention after the Republican Party opposed the parochial school bus bill which would permit state funds to be used for Catholic schools.

Simultaneously, a Catholic boycott against the dairy business of the son of the Republican President of the Maine Senate, Earle D. Hillman, forced his son to go out of the dairy business. Senator Hillman had cast the tie vote which defeated the Catholic school bus bill.

Readers of this column will recall that in praising Kennedy recently, I expressed the opinion that he would not be influenced politically by his church. However, Jack is unfair in telling West Virginia voters that the issue is what church he goes to on Sunday. This is not the issue. Nobody cares where Jack goes to church on Sunday.

The issue is separation of church and state, as provided by the U. S. Constitution, and the fact that only the Catholic Church requires its members to put the church ahead of the U. S. government. I have said that Senator Kennedy would not do this. However, voters of West Virginia and elsewhere certainly have a right to discuss this matter and consider it carefully—regardless of Jack's accusation that religion has been unfairly injected into the campaign.

Priests Were Too Busy

Here is how it was injected into the campaign in the State of Maine:

Mrs. Ellen E. Thomas of Anson, Me., arrangements chairman of the Republican State Convention meeting in Bangor this week, stated that she and other Republicans had requested seven Catholic priests in the Bangor-Brewer area to deliver either an invocation or a benediction at one or more of the two general convention sessions. All refused, Mrs. Thomas said, and "two said it was because of the bus issue." The others, according to Mrs. Thomas, said they "were too busy."

Four non-Catholic clergymen were not too busy—a Methodist, an Episcopalian, a Jew and a Greek Orthodox—so the Republican State Convention will not be without church blessing.

The Portland Press Herald, in reporting a Catholic refusal to give its blessing to the Republicans, said:

"The bus issue revolves around attempts to authorize public transportation for private and parochial schools throughout the state. The legislature was called into special session last January to consider the issue after the Supreme Court ruled that such public-financed transportation was constitutional, but must be approved by the legislative branch of the government.

"The lawmakers defeated a bill which would have allowed 'home rule' on the issue, that is, the decision of using public funds to haul private school children left up to each community.

"Because the legislature is controlled by the Republican Party —and several GOP legislators led opposition to the bill—the party is said to be receiving the political blame."

A Political Boycott

The key Republican who broke a tie which refused reconsideration of the parochial bus bill was Sen. Earle D. Hillman, previously a dairyman.

After Senator Hillman's vote against Catholic school buses, the Portland Evening Express reported: "The boycotting and heckling technique employed against the Footman-Hillman Dairy here (in Bangor) was so prevalent that the company painted the name 'Hillman' off its trucks. The Senate President is no longer connected with the firm, having sold out his interest in 1955."

However, young Hillman, described by the Evening Express as a "33-year-old veteran of two wars and father of six children," had to go out of business. He operated an independent dairy.

"I know nothing about the bus issue and care less," young Hillman stated.

However, a boycott against him as revenge against his father decreased his milk sales by 200 to 300 quarts daily following the special legislative session which killed the bus bill.

"I was well aware of what might happen to my son's business," Senator Hillman stated, "but I hardly expected it to be quiet so serious and so out in the open.

"I certainly have had an education in the past few weeks. I am amazed at the unity among Catholics and how they are indoctrinated as to the importance of getting their people to the polls to vote for candidates who will in turn legislate their thinking.

"Also the pressure that is put on men in public office to vote their cause by threat of boycott and in some cases bodily injury. It is beyond all human thinking, at a time when all faiths should be united in stopping the spread of Communism."

Finally, after an editorial in the Bangor News called upon people to stop the boycott of the Hillman family, it eased off.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

We were sitting in a lavish room at the Fontainbleau and he talked softly and eloquently, as he always does, a little out of the right side of his face and I listened hard because George Jessel has led an interesting life, although there are times when I'm not sure what he's trying to do with it.

Two Presidents of the United States have referred to Mr. Jessel as The Toastmaster General of the United States. In his time, George has made about 3,500 after-dinner speeches, when the cigar smoke is blue and the chicken is indigestible. Names drop from his lips like pearls from a 30-cent necklace and sometimes, when he is in an ebullient mood, Mr. Jessel drops whole countries.

He was born on St. Ann's Avenue in The Bronx on April 3, 1898. Today, the hair and the teeth may be in doubt, but the resonant voice is his and so is the aspiration to be known as a good guy. His father was a Jewish playwright who married a woman 33 years younger, a trick George has been trying to emulate from time to time.

Young Jessel was 9 when his father died. His mother got a job selling tickets at the old Imperial Theatre, on 116th Street near Lenox Avenue in New York. The boy saw a few stage shows and was stricken with a desire to be inundated with applause. His total schooling amounted to eight months.

Jessel drew two neighborhood boys to him and got up a trio. The boys were Jack Weimer, Walter Winchell and George Jessel, but they thought the names didn't sound dramatic, so they called themselves Leonard Lawrence and McKinley. Mrs. Jessel got them a booking to sing in the orchestra pit to the accompaniment of some song slides.

They lost the job quickly, and decided to try Broadway. There they met Gus Edwards, who made a fortune shoving talented youngsters into the spotlight. They were part of an act called The Newsboys Sextet and, in the case of Winchell, it was an omen.

When Jessel was 10, he went off with a youth named Edward Cantor, who was 19. Cantor was in favor of cleanliness and, when he found that Jessel was averse to bathing, Eddie bathed him. They worked in a production called Kid Cabaret. Jessel sang and did imitations; Cantor did an impersonation of Al Jolson.

It set no one on fire. The act broke up when Jessel awakened one morning and found that his voice was changing. From that point on, everyone did well but Jessel. Cantor went on to soaring success in Kid Boots and other shows; Winchell went from NVA News to the top as a columnist; Weimer became a national success as a press agent; Jessel had a small-time act in which he sang and told stories.

It was James J. Walker, mayor of New York, who made an after-dinner speaker of Jessel, and a most successful one. Years later, when Walker was dying, Jessel said to a friend: "I'm going up to Doctors Hospital to see Jim." The friend said: "He's unconscious. He won't know you're there." Jessel nodded. "No," he said, "but I will."

The toastmaster has had about as much success with marriage as he had with his act. He was married to Norma Talmadge and, years later, was arrested for trying to kill a man who, Jessel claimed, was feeding narcotics to his wife. Later, he married Florence Courtney. She too repented her marriage and became a Christian Science Reader.

His last marriage was to Lois Andrews, who was about 17. This broke up and led to jokes about Jessel and very young girls.

We sat talking about all these things, and many more, and he smoked cigars and told me that he had raised about $60,000,000 for Israel with his speeches. This is good, and it is also ironic, because Jessel, as a Jew, does not attend a synagogue and does not keep the dietary laws.

He raises money for Israel and the City of Hope and other worthy ventures with his silvery tongue, and he is paid by these organizations. For a while, he was a movie producer and there he earned $1,500,000. It's almost all gone.

Now he plans to produce a motion picture starring Jack Paar. Some of the money will come from Lou Chesler, a real estate development man. When Jessel told me about the deal between himself and Paar, I asked one question: "When you get together, which one of you is going to listen" . . .

Piedmont House Is Damaged By Stubborn Fire

Three Companies Called To Blaze

PIEDMONT, W. Va. — Three volunteer fire companies early yesterday afternoon fought a stubborn blaze which caused about $1,500 damages to the residence of Mrs. C. A. Wilcox, 79 East Hampshire Street.

Firemen had difficulty in bringing under control the fire which ate its way from the cellar to the attic in the partitions of the two-story frame dwelling.

The alarm sounded about 12:05 p.m. and firemen from Tri-Towns Fire Company No. 1 here, Potomac Fire Company No. 1, Westernport, and the Luke fire company responded. They were on the scene about an hour.

The fire apparently originated in the basement which was damaged extensively. Considerable damage was caused by water and smoke, according to firemen who estimated damages at approximately $1,500.

A clothes closet in a first floor apartment occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Forest Boggs was damaged by fire although the clothes were removed from the closet and placed on a nearby bed.

The fire ate its way to the second floor occupied by Mrs. Wilcox who escaped from the burning home.

Mrs. Boggs detected the smoke in the house and firemen were notified.

She said that about two hours earlier she had detected smoke and went to the basement where she extinguished a fire which was burning in that part of the house.

Mrs. Wilcox is reported to be carrying insurance on the residence.

Gov. Underwood Opposes Health Laws Change

Would Discredit Mental Hospitals

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Gov. Cecil H. Underwood said Tuesday to change state mental health laws at this time would serve only to downgrade the program and lessen mental hospitals' chances of gaining accredition.

Underwood told a legislative subcommittee he had hopes of finding a new director for the West Virginia Mental Health Department and probably will not have to call a special session of the Legislature to relax certain requirements for the $20,000 a year position.

The governor has had difficulty in replacing Dr. Richard J. Lilly who failed to win confirmation from the State Senate for the position.

Statute limits the job to a graduate psychiatrist and the Constitution requires that an applicant be a resident of West Virginia at least a year before becoming director.

The governor said he and the subcommittee agreed during a 90-minute meeting that the state's first job is to adequately staff the Mental Health Department and the hospitals.

Underwood described the meeting as "the beginning of an era of much closer cooperation and understanding between the legislative and executive branches of government in the state's mental health problems."

The subcommittee set up by the Legislature's two main interim committees will meet May 13-14 with Southern Regional Education Board consultants who will present a professional review of West Virginia's mental health problems.

Governor Speaks For Self

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Gov. Cecil H. Underwood said Tuesday his criticism last week of Sen. John Kennedy's voting record in the Senate was not based on information supplied by Vice President Richard M. Nixon or the Republican National Committee.

"I am not in the habit of taking orders from either," the Republican governor asserted. "I am my own mouthpiece and don't claim to speak for anybody but myself."

Kennedy charged during several campaign speeches Monday that Underwood attacked him at Nixon's request as part of a stop-Kennedy movement.

Last Friday, Underwood told newsmen that Kennedy had failed to vote on seven bills which the governor said were of interest to West Virginia.

They included a coal research bill, a measure on surplus foods, and a bill on public housing.

Kennedy was upset about this and said the reason for Underwood's charges was that Republicans believe Kennedy would be the toughest opponent for Nixon in November.

Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. Tuesday described Kennedy as "the only Democrat who can beat Dick Nixon."

Vikings Snap Keyser's 17-Game PVC Win Streak, 8-1

Dave Koontz Hurls Three Hit Contest

Loss First In PVC Since 1958; Bruce Hits 3-Run Homer

Petersburg High School's Vikings cracked Keyser High School's 17-game winning streak in the Potomac Valley Conference by beating the Golden Tornado yesterday at Petersburg by the score of 8-1.

The loss was the first for KHS in the P.V.C. since May 12, 1958, when the Romney Pioneers won a 10-inning contest by the score of 5-4. The setback gave Keyser a 5-1 record for the season and knocked the Mineral countians out of first place in the P.V.C. Moorefield took over the leadership with a 6-1 mark. Keyser and Moorefield don't meet in a conference game this season.

Dave Koontz went the route for Petersburg in yesterday's contest and turned back Keyser with three hits, including Bob Shaw's homer in the third inning, Keyser's lone tally.

Steve Bruce clouted a two-run homer with Boor and Redman aboard in the fourth inning. The Vikings scored two runs in the first inning, three in the fourth and three in the fifth.

"Butch" Alt and Bruce sparked the Vikings 13-hit offensive with three blows each. Koontz, Ernie Nelson and Jack Boor garnered two hits each.

Mike Melody, who hurled 4⅔ innings for Keyser, was tagged with the loss.

Keyser had won the opening game of the series at home by the score of 8-1.

Spahn Posts Initial Win

Milwaukee Star Defeats Reds, 4-3

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Del Crandall's 11th-inning homer, his first of the season, gave the Milwaukee Braves a 4-3 victory Tuesday night, with southpaw Warren Spahn going the route to notch his first win of the season.

The triumph, ending a three-game losing streak for the Braves, was Spahn's 54th over the Reds against 20 losses.

Victim of Crandall's clout was young left-hander Jimmy O'Toole, who, after being for three runs in the first inning, blanked the Braves until the 11th inning.

Vada Pinson's sixth double of the season, and Gus Bell's first homer, which followed, gave the Reds their first two runs in the third inning. The hits were the only two yielded by Spahn until the eighth when the Reds, capitalizing on Johnny Logan's error, tied the score at 3-3.

Eddie Kask reached first in the eighth when Logan dropped his pop fly, moved to second on a sacrifice, went to third on Roy McMillan's single to right and scored on Pinson's infield hit.

The Braves bunched four hits, with a walk and a sacrifice fly to score their three runs in the first inning.

Jurges Calls Bosox Session, Gets No Gripes

Calls Dissension Reports Shocking

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Boston Manager Billy Jurges, "shocked" by reports of dissension on the club, called a meeting of his players Tuesday to clear the air.

The meeting was held in the visiting clubhouse at Yankee Stadium, before the game with New York.

"I called the players together," Jurges said, "and asked them to state their gripes. Nobody did. I feel that is the only way to get this thing straightened out.

"I want any player to come to me at any time with a problem. That's how it should be."

Jurges' decision to "talk it out" with his players was prompted by reports in Boston newspapers that Red Sox players were grumbling and critical of Jurges' managing in Washington over the past weekend. Some writers quoted unidentified Red Sox players as criticizing Jurges' lineup juggling and frantic decisions.

One player, also unidentified, predicted Jurges would be out as manager before July 1.

A canvass of the players Tuesday produced mostly denials that anything was wrong. There were several "no comment" replies. One, who asked that his name not be used, said Jurges had become unpopular with the players by his hasty moves, constant juggling of players, and "unsound tactics."

Others, like Ted Williams, scoffed at the dissension report and expressed complete faith in Jurges.

"It's all a lot of horsefeathers," snapped Williams.

"It's those damn Boston writers again. They're always starting trouble.

"What do they want the fellow (Jurges) to do? He's doing the best he can. And he's doing a damn good job."

Jurges, who succeeded Mike Higgins as Boston manager last summer, expressed amazement at reports that the Red Sox were anything but a happy family.

"I just can't understand it," he said. "I'm really shocked. I had no idea that anything like this was going on and I just can't believe it. It comes out of a clear blue sky."

Spokane Buys Curt Roberts

MONTREAL (UPI)— Second baseman Curt Roberts, voted the most valuable player on the Montreal Royals last year, has been sold outright to Spokane of the Pacific Coast League, General Manager Fern DuBois announced Tuesday.

Roberts, 29 - year - old former Pittsburgh Pirates infielder, batted .296 and hit 11 homers last year. This year, in the first six games of the season, he batted .308 and hit one homer.

The acquisition of former American Leaguer Chico Carrasquel and Jerry Snyder from Miami of the International League Monday, paved the way for the transfer of Roberts.

Spokane and Montreal are both Triple A farm clubs of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Boston Red Sox Snap Yankees' 4-Game String

Hector Lopez Goat In 7 To 5 Setback

By FRED DOWN

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Boston Red Sox took advantage of two defensive lapses by left fielder Hector Lopez Tuesday to score a 7-5 victory that ended the New York Yankees' four-game winning streak.

Brewer Helps Casale

Jerry Casale received credit for his second straight win of the season, although Tom Brewer rescued him in the sixth inning and limited the Yankees to one run and two hits the rest of the way.

Lopez, hard-hitting infielder-outfielder acquired from Kansas City last season, had one of the worst days since he first put on a Yankee uniform.

His three-base error on a routine fly by Lou Clinton touched off a five-run Red Sox uprising in the third inning and in the seventh, after the Yankees had cut their deficit to 5-4, he played a line single by Pete Runnels into a triple that gave Boston its sixth run of the game.

Lopez managed one hit in four tries but even that led to embarrassment because he made too wide a turn at first base and was picked off when the Red Sox executed a cutoff from the outfield.

Gabler Is Victim

Rookie John Gabler was the victim of these misplays after he had retired the first six batters to face.

He struck out Ed Sadowski after Lopez' three-base error in the third but Casale, Don Buddin and Runnels singled in succession, and a walk and additional singles by Vic Wertz and Gary Geiger completed the five-run outburst.

Sadowski hit his first major league homer in the eighth inning to account for Boston's final run.

Yogi Berra drove in four runs with two singles and a home run and Bill Skowron hit a towering homer into the third deck of the left field stands to account for the Yankee runs.

Nicks Edges Durham At Pinehurst

Pulls Surprise In Opening Round

PINEHURST, N. C. (AP)—Bill Nicks, 36-year-old road builder from Los Angeles, ousted Medalist Herb Durham of Dallas, Tex., 1-up, Tuesday in the major surprise of the first round of match play in the North and South Amateur Golf Tournament.

Nicks, a two handicapped, playing here for the first time, won the first two holes, then fell behind, but regained the lead with a par on 15 and a birdie on 16. He halved the last two holes to protect his advantage. He was four over par for his trip around the 7,007-yard No. 2 course of the country club, again steaming under 90-degree heat.

Although the 32 matches produced no other startling developments there were notable achievements. These included:

One of the classic matches of 60 years of North and South history with Dr. Edward Updegraff of Tucson, Ariz., defeating George Fulton of Roanoke, Va., on the 21st hole. After olling in a 35-footer for a half on the extra hole Fulton three-putted the next green to lose a match replete with birdies and brilliant play. Updegraff shot par golf for the distance. Fulton was a semifinalist here 13 years ago.

A 3 and 2 victory for Frank Strafaci of Miami, Fla., over Ward Wettlaufer of Buffalo, Walker Cupper. Strafaci, who'll be 44 Friday, won this tournament two years in a row, in 1938-39. He birdied the sixth, eighth and ninth holes to turn three up and never lost the advantage.

Hyndman Beats Bedford County League Leaders

Lehman Turns Back Chestnut Ridge, 5-3

Vohn Lehman tossed a two-hitter and fired the third strike past 11 batsmen yesterday as Hyndman High School knocked off previously undefeated Chestnut Ridge High School of Fishertown in a Bedford County League game at Hyndman by the score of 5-3.

It was the first defeat in five league games for Chestnut Ridge. The Hornets have won two and lost three.

A double by Stiffler and a single by Mock were the only safeties yielded by Lehman whose record for the current campaign is 2-2.

Charley Gibbner and Royce Waltman led the Hyndman attack with two hits each.

Ickes, who started on the hillock for Chestnut Ridge and lasted only two-thirds of an inning, was charged with the loss.

Himalaya Runs Into Tractor, Is Destroyed

SAN MATEO, Calif. (UPI)—Himalaya, a three-year-old filly, was destroyed at Bay Meadows Tuesday after she ran into a tractor and broke her left front leg.

Himalaya, owned by Mrs. John W. Hanes of New York City, had placed second to Miss Joyce in the opening race. When a groom threw a blanket over the animal preparatory to leading her back to the barn, Himalaya broke loose and ran headlong into a tractor which was pulling a plow from the opposite direction.

The driver of the vehicle, track superintendent Phil Ehrhorn, nearly was unseated but was reported to have been uninjured.

The feature race, a $2,500 allowance test for three-year-olds, went to Grover who overhauled the front-running Cacus in the stretch and won by a half-length. The favored Tis Sure was third.

Grover paid $10.40 straight and covered the rainy six furlongs in 1:10 2-5.

Art Raygor tossed a 4 hitter and fanned seven in Corriganville's triumph over Melody Manor.

Cleveland Stops Detroit In Twelve Inning Battle, 2-1

Tigers Suffer First Defeat Of Campaign

Fail To Earn Run Off Wynn Hawkins; Power's Hit Wins

By GARY GATES

DETROIT (UPI) — Cleveland's Vic Power blooped a single into left field in the 12th inning scoring Carroll Hardy Tuesday to give the Indians a 2-1 victory over Detroit and hand the Tigers their first defeat of the season.

Hardy ran for Russ Nixon who opened the 12th with a walk and moved to second on Don Dillard's pinch single.

Hawkins Wins First

Rookie Wynn Hawkins, who hurled 11 innings without yielding an earned run, registered his first major league victory in his second try.

Hawkins would have won in the regulation nine innings if a three base throwing error by Bubba Phillips had not enabled the Tigers to tie the score in the seventh.

Cleveland scored its first tally in the sixth when Johnny Temple singled to left driving in Power who had singled and moved to second on a sacrifice by Jim Piersall.

Despite the defeat, the Tigers remained in first place in the American League with a 5-1 record.

Hawkins got off to a rocky start and the Tigers had a big chance in the first inning when they loaded the bases with one out. But then Hawkins got Rocky Colavito to pop out and Steve Bilko to strike out.

From then on Hawkins, who allowed only five hits, pitched near-perfect ball. The Tigers scored in the seventh without benefit of a hit when Yost opened with a walk, moved to third on two infield outs and scored when Phillips threw wild after fielding a grounder by Al Kaline.

Sisler Is Loser

Dave Sisler who pitched to only one batter in the 12th walking Nixon, was tagged with the loss.

TOPS OLD MARK — One of the two broad jump records set by Frederick "Tack" Clark in 1931 was broken by Don Bush, above, of Beall High School in a dual meet with Allegany Tuesday at the Beall High Stadium. Bush's leap of 21 feet, 11 inches topped the Allegany County Meet record of 21 feet, 9½ inches set by Clark 29 years ago. Clark's best mark, however, is 22 feet, 2 inches set in a C.V.A.L. meet in 1931.

Cards Knock Giants Out Of First Place

Jackson Is Victor Over 'Frisco, 4-2

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Righthander Larry Jackson scattered seven hits for his first win of the season Tuesday night as the St. Louis Cardinals knocked the San Francisco Giants out of first place in the National League with a 4-2 victory.

The Cardinals, finally topping the team that had beaten them three straight, jumped on Giant ace Sad Sam Jones in the first inning for the four big runs that won the ball game.

Joe Cunningham and Daryl Spencer led off the key frame with singles. Both scored on ex-Giant Bill White's triple. After Ken Boyer fanned, Stan Musial singled, scoring White. Wally Shannon later scored Musial with another single.

Jones, knocked out of the box in the first, allowed six hits in just two-thirds of an inning—or twice as many as he gave up in the entire ball game he won 3-1 from the Cardinals on the West Coast earlier this season. It was Jones' first reversal after two victories.

Jackson became the first Card pitcher to hurl a complete game this season.

Second baseman Shannon, starting his first game, led the St. Louis 12-hit attack with three singles.

The Giants defeat enabled Pittsburgh to take over the National League lead.

Giant Willie Mays extended his consecutive hitting streak to 12 games with a single in the fourth inning.

Don Drysdale Fans 10, Beats Chicago, 8-1

Los Angeles Breaks 4-Game Loss String

CHICAGO (UPI) — Don Drysdale held the Chicago Cubs to four hits Tuesday and his Los Angeles Dodgers teammates, aided by four Chicago errors, pounded four pitchers for an easy 8-1 win.

Break Loss String

The victory broke the Dodgers' losing streak at four games, one short of their longest string of defeats last season when they won the National League pennant and the world championship.

Drysdale, en route to his third triumph, pitched hitless ball for the first four and one-third innings although Lou Johnson reached base in the first inning when he was hit by a pitched ball.

Doubles by George Altman and Del Rice in the fifth produced Chicago's only run. Only four runners were left on base, two of them in the ninth inning when the Cubs got two of their four hits.

The Dodgers got two runs in the first on a walk, Don Zimmer's error on Wally Moon's grounder, and John Roseboro's single. The Dodgers added three in the second on singles by Maury Wills and Drysdale, pitcher Glenn Hobbie's error and Moon's double. Only two of the first five runs were earned.

Moon's double and singles by Wills and Drysdale, who had two singles and a double in four times at bat, netted two runs in the third. The last Dodger run resulted from Moon's single, a hit batsman, Tom Davis' single and Zimmer's second error in the sixth.

Hobbie, who pitched two and two-thirds innings, took his first loss. Jack Goetz, Seth Morehead, Ben Johnson and Moe Drabowsky worked in relief.

Drysdale struck out ten batters.

Brian London Wins Heavyweight Bout

LONDON (AP)—Brain London, former British heavyweight champion, Tuesday night floored Pete Rademacher twice in the sixth round and then knocked out the American with a left hook to the body after 15 seconds of the seventh round. The bout was scheduled for 10 rounds.

The 31-year-old Rademacher from Grandview, Wash., and Columbus, Ga., had an unbeaten streak broken at seven.

The 6-foot-2 American had started his pro career at the top, and was knocked out by Floyd Patterson, then the heavyweight champion, in a title fight and by Zora Folley, a leading American contender. Since the Folley loss he had won six and drawn once.

London snapped a three-fight losing streak, including a knockout loss to Patterson in a title fight in Indianapolis last May 1.

A crowd of 10,000 at the indoor Wembley Stadium saw the 25-year-old, six-foot Britain dominate the fight all the way.

Rademacher ran into trouble in the sixth round as London piled in with a big right hand and followed with combination punches to the head and body.

London caught Pete with a short right and sent the American to the canvas for a count of seven.

At the start of the seventh round London again waded in and a vicious left to the body sent Rademacher down for the count.

Rademacher weighed 205 pounds, London 214.

Orioles Edge Senators On Gentile's Home Run

Three-Run Wallop Second Day In Row Decides Tilt, 11-10

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Jim Gentile, Baltimore's "trial" first baseman, hit a three run homer for the second day in a row Tuesday to give the Orioles an 11-10 victory over the Washington Senators.

Gentile, battling to win the Baltimore first base job from Walt Dropo and Bob Boyd, connected in the eighth inning off Camilo Pascual to sink the Senators for the second straight day. Six homers were hit in the game, four by Washington.

Bats In 11 Runs

Gentile has had an amazing streak in five games against Washington. He has 11 runs batted in for the season — all against the Senators. Both of his homers and all eight of his hits have been against Washington pitching. His batting average against the Senators is .500.

The 25-year-old first-baseman is with Baltimore on a 30-day trial basis from St. Paul, a Los Angeles farm. If the Orioles keep him, they will give up $25,000 plus two players.

Earl Battey hit a home run for Washington with the bases loaded off Hoyt Wilhelm in the sixth to give the Senators a 9-8 lead. That margin stood up until Gentile's homer in the eighth.

Harmon Killebrew hit his second homer of the season in the third and then had to retire with a pulled muscle which will keep him idle for a week.

Jim Lemon and Dan Dobbek also homered for the Senators.

Gene Woodling started the home run barrage with a shot off starter Don Lee in the first inning when Baltimore scored five runs.

The Senators tied the score by the third inning but Baltimore chased Ted Abernathy with three runs on Battey's grand slam wallop.

Estrada Gets Win

Chuck Estrada was credited with his first major league victory although he had to survive a ninth-inning Washington rally which netted one run.

This was the seventh one-run ball game in nine for the Senators, who have a 3-4 record in these squeakers.

Early G. B. Shaw

"Captain Brassbound's Conversion," which Hallmark is presenting on NBC-TV next Monday 10 p.m., was originally written by George Bernard Shaw for Ellen Terry in 1899 but not performed by her until 1906, suggesting that playwrights had to stand in line for the stars as long as they do now. This is early Shaw when the waspish Irish gentleman still had Ibsen's pinfeathers in his wings and vestigial traces of Dickens in his tail.

By that I mean that Shaw's heroines had been brought over almost intact from Ibsen and his men taken—as he himself blandly confessed—right out of Dickens. The trouble is that Shaw couldn't borrow really from anyone and all his characters, once they'd passed through his own tall domed skull, came out mostly Shaw. Lady Cecily, who is the heroine of this play, is one of the more recalcitrantly sweet and indomitably female characters of all literature, alternately endearing and infuriating. In the end she is a little too much of a piece, I think, to sustain the play throughout.

George Schaefer, who directed and produced, has handsomely mounted the old play and directed it swiftly, surely, and economically. I wouldn't know offhand whether Greer Garson adequately fills Ellen Terry's shoes but they have the same qualities. They're both great ladies and both very beautiful in a mature English fashion. Christopher Plummer plays Captain Brassbound, the vengeful hero, in his muscle-bound way with great authority and sharpness and not quite enough humor. (Though, God knows, there isn't much humor in the part.)

The best parts, of course, (as always) are the minor ones. Shaw always claimed he knew more about cockney than anyone else and his scallywag Drinkwater (George Rose) is a delicious personality. He's a real philosopher, is Drinkwater, and much of the philosophy underneath the cockney accent, is pure Shaw at his most pragmatic and humanitarian.

The trouble is that the exigencies of space and time on television cut Drinkwater down quite a bit. It also cuts down the conversion of Brassbound to the point where it becomes barely credible. Something seems to have fallen out of the trial scene at the end, too, that takes the cream out of the jest. I suspect this is partly George Schaefer's fault but mostly George Shaw's. Just the same it's a civilized hour and a half, this mixture of derring-do — kidnappings and hairbreadth rescues and pirates and Arabs and civilized English lady and gentleman—and sophisticated talk and I unhesitatingly recommend it. Next Monday.

Incidentally, Shaw in this play has at the lawyers in a way that will do your heart good. His Sir Howard Hallam, beautifully played by Felix Aylmer, is the very model of British jurisprudence who says, at one point: "If you ever want to do anything illegal, always consult a good lawyer first."

There were outraged cries that the role belonged to Greta Garbo but, failing her, I can think of no better girl than Maria Schell who was an absolutely enchanting "Ninotchka" last week. She's a beauty, all right, as sexually stimulating as anything that has been on television in a long while. A fine deadpan comedienne, too.

This is the tale of the female commissar sent to Paris full of zeal for the revolution who is seduced by the elegance and the gayety and the food and only incidentally by Gig Young. Twenty years later, the tale becomes a Graustark romance — still charming but awfully Never Never. The humor is way out of date. The commissar objecting, for example, to paying 2,000 francs a day for the imperial suite. The Russians now buy up all the best homes including those of all the bourgeois millionaires on Long Island to house their visiting diplomats and negotiators in posh luxury.

Miss Schell staring unsmiling at a little froth of a female hat and saying "How can a civilization survive that puts a thing like that on a woman's head?" is still funny. But it's no longer real—and maybe it never was.

Just the same I had an awfully good time with this retread of an old movie. So it wasn't Lubitsch! It was still awfully good television and a pleasant relief from the homicides.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — A big shot in the arm was given the Paramount conventioneers Wednesday when production head Jack Karp announced that Frank Sinatra has been signed for a musical on the scope of "White Christmas." In making this announcement it was added that Mel Shavelson and Jack Rose will produce and direct the multimillion dollar musical to start no later than November. As of now it's operating under the title of "The Frank Sinatra Musical."

Paramount, in line with 20th Century-Fox and Warner Bros., are making it known that they are doing business at the old stands and in a big way. Danny Kaye also is booked for another comedy after he finishes his TV spectacular.

Comedies and musicals are what we need to bring the families into the movie theatres, not these neurotic problem pictures.

Dorothy Malone is torn between mixed emotions—delight over the lead opposite Rock Hudson and Kirk Douglas in "The Day of the Gun," and having to leave her three weeks old baby for two months during the rugged location trip to Mexico. But the baby will be in the good hands of papa Jacques Bergerac, and a very fine nurse.

"I will be with little Mimi on Mother's Day," Dorothy told me. "I leave May 9. I play a 20-year-old ranch woman and I have a baby in the movie."

This is the third teaming of Dorothy and Rock Hudson. She won an Oscar for the first, "Written on the Wind"; the second was "Tarnished Angels." Many femme stars were rumored for "Day of the Gun," but producers Eugene Frenke and Ed Lewis and director Robert Aldrich decided that Dorothy was the best.

A wave of great music movies are in the offing—and don't knock it. Dimitri Tiomkin for years has been working on "The Life of Tchaikovsky" but it's much closer to productin than it ever was since Tiomkin's recent huddle with Jerry Wald. At this stage the composer and the film producer are talking a co-production deal.

Tiomkin has been collecting books and doing research on Tchaikovsky for 15 years and on his latest trip to Europe purchased over 100 books written in the Russian language on every phase of the great musician's life. Another great music picture about to be released is "Song Without End," based on the life of Franz Liszt—Bill Goetz's production.

When Chuck Connors, star of "The Rifleman" TV series, appears at the Shrine Circus tomorrow night in Winnipeg, Canada, very few people will know that he stepped out of the Cottage Hospital in Santa Barbara onto the plane. He was suffering from a slipped disc. Although his doctor advised against making this trip, Chuck refused to disappoint the people he had promised to appear for the benefit.

He said, "I wouldn't dream of failing to show up at the last minute for a benefit that would help all those crippled children." Chuck, I happen to know, had a pretty painful time, and I must say I admire him for keeping an appointment at such a cost to himself.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♠	Pass	3 ♥	Pass
4 ♥	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: King of ♦

Declarer's skilled bidding display was nullified today by an alert defender who had drawn the same inferences as his opponent.

South opened in the third seat with one spade and North offered a single raise. The opening bidder's hand revalues to 18 points when his suit is supported, counting one for the fifth trump and two for the sixth. He can, therefore, afford to invite a game by proceeding to three spades, but he decided that he might be able to ferret out a superior contract in hearts if North had four of that suit for then the long spade suit would be available for discards. South therefore bid three hearts and when North raised to four, it became the final contract.

West opened the king of diamonds and East was about to signal with the nine but then he changed his mind and overtook the king with his ace. The bidding had made it clear to him that declarer was apt to be longer in spades than in hearts and that several discards would be forthcoming from dummy when declarer obtained the lead. While it might be possible to cash two tricks in diamonds immediately, it appeared that tricks would also have to be taken in clubs to set the contract, and that the diamonds could wait.

So reasoning, East shifted to the queen of clubs. West captured South's king with the ace and returned a club to his partner's jack. Declarer was forced subsequently to concede a trump trick for down one.

Had the defenders tried to cash a second diamond trick immediately, South would have ruffed, conceded a trump trick to West and ultimately obtained three club discards from dummy since East could never obtain the lead to come thru declarer's king of clubs.

Played at spades, declarer would have been doomed from the outset since he cannot avoid the loss of two clubs, one diamond and one heart.

Fire Extinguished At Potomac Park

Some 25 members of the Bowling Green Volunteer Fire Company with two pieces of equipment were called to Avenue M in Potomac Park about 6:30 p. m. Monday to extinguish a brush fire.

Fire Chief Allan Deffinbaugh led the 25 volunteers, who were on the job about an hour. The flames were fairly close to one house but caused no damage there.

Card Of Thanks

We desire to extend our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends, neighbors and relatives for their kind expressions of sympathy extended to us during our bereavement, the death of our wife and mother, Geraldine Smith. We especially wish to thank the pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes, those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral, the ministers for their kind words and all others who in any manner rendered assistance. We are indeed grateful.

ARTHUR J. SMITH AND FAMILY

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Ronnie Charles Nixon, who was killed 3 years ago today.

Three years have passed, dear Ronnie
Since you were called away.
Sometimes it's hard to understand
Why certain things must be.
But in His wisdom God has planned
Beyond our power to see.
Just when life was the sweetest
And he could have lived best
God opened the gates of heaven
And he entered the land of rest.
When we go beside your grave
And place flowers there with gentle care
Something in our heart tells us
You know that we are there.
And with loving thoughts of you
Deep in our hearts lies a picture
Of a loving son and brother

Sadly missed by mother, Mrs. Pauline Nixon and sisters Shirley and Glenny Nixon and Mrs. Joanne Ankeney.

THE CAR DESIGNED FOR SPORT

THE 1960 HAWK BY STUDEBAKER

WHAT IS THE STUDEBAKER HAWK?

*It's as graceful as a figure skater
as lithe as a racing sloop
as lovely as a spring day on the Green as zestful as a championship tennis match
as eager as a fencer's foil as joyful as a colt
as exhilarating as an Alpine climb as distinctive as a winner.*

—all in all, the Hawk is the sporting car for sports-minded people. And now even more so with its larger more powerful new engine and massive finned brake drums. Add a dash of sport to routine motoring. See your Studebaker Dealer and ask about the price. Surprise! The Hawk is about $1,000 under its nearest competitor. Test drive it and see how much more you get for your money!

Market Moves Narrowly, Closes On Irregular Note

NEW YORK (UPI)—Individual stock features, moving in response to corporate announcements, provided the life in a generally narrow-moving, moderately active market Tuesday.

Measured by the Dow-Jones averages, the market was unchanged on the day with the 65 stock general average holding at 202.72. Industrial and rail components finished slightly lower on balance while utilities were fractionally higher for the most part.

Turnover for the session totaled 2,940,000 shares, compared with a Monday total of 2,960,000.

Gains in special issues—ranging past 4 points in Universal Match which responded to a dividend boost—overshadowed a continued hesitancy in the market apparent in the early dealings when Monday's declines were extended. Of a total 1,223 issues appearing on the tape, 544 finished higher while 415 were lower on the day.

Brokers said the sharp Monday decline had left the list in a position to benefit from any favorable news developments and this it did on a selective basis.

Record first quarter earnings announcements lifted Zenith over a point, Texaco a fraction. Temco Aircraft moved up over a point as the company and Ling-Altec Electronics announced merger agreement. American Smelting rose 2 points on a dividend hike.

Most of the electronics were higher—2 points or more in General Time, Beckman, Texas Instruments, but Motorola lost 2 points.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI) —Grain futures closed narrowly mixed Tuesday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

At the final bell, wheat was unchanged to up ½; corn off ⅜ to up ⅛; oats off ¼ to ⅜; rye up ¼ to ¾; and soybeans off ⅛ to up 1.

Trading in wheat was light, and prices closed mostly steady. The May contract was firm. A small commission house business appeared on both sides of the market.

Corn ranged from easy in the nearby to steady in the deferred months. Longs liquidated May, and local traders sold July. Small cash selling, was regarded as hedging. Spreaders sold May against purchases of July. Receipts were light.

Export subsidies were granted on 811,000 bushels of corn.

Oats eased. Longs sold the May, and there was some pressure on September. Cash houses absorbed most of the offers. Latest crop reports said seeding operations were still two or more weeks behind schedule.

Rye futures grew firm on light offerings and a higher Winnipeg trade.

Nearby soybeans advanced sharply following Monday's plunge to a new seasonal low. Offerings increased on the advance. There was early cash, local and commission buying based on the government report on stocks in all positions.

Meals and oils firmed.

Exporters said that Israel bought soybeans. Formosa took 651,000 bushels of western white and 706,000 bushels of hard wheat.

Outside markets were mostly higher.

Humphrey Says West Virginia Needs U.S. Aid

Candidate Speaks To 200 At Keyser

By MATTHEW B. COFFEY
Special To The News

Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, Democratic Presidential aspirant, spoke before approximately 200 residents of Keyser yesterday as part of a whirlwind tour of West Virginia prior to the state's May 10 Democratic primary.

Senator Humphrey said the plight in West Virginia, as of other states, is not unusual.

"This nation claims to be prosperous, but the government closes its eyes on unemployment. If you don't help your own, how are people in foreign countries going to believe we are sincere when we say we will help them?

"We spend 100 million dollars in Afghanistan and other foreign countries and no money for coal research in West Virginia. We have to have coal research in Korea.

"I believe in foreign aid; but if you're going to have an overseas program to feed people, you must first be able to help your own," Sen. Humphrey said.

Sen. Humphrey also said the U.S. is a nation that has something to do at home. He said the Senate passed a bill for coal research in West Virginia to relieve unemployment, but the President vetoed it.

"I have a pilot plan for the mobilization of talent for the coal industry. There would be commissions all over the world."

Sees Power Boom

This plan provides for large electric generators at the mouth of the mine to which coal could be delivered, and therefore power could be generated with sufficient conductance to such cities as Pittsburgh, Washington and as far as Cleveland. "The Soviets transmit power over 1,000 miles, with less than one volt current drop, and I am sure if those Russians can do it we can!"

He said the government should work side by side with private industry for development of coal and electric research.

On the farm program Senator Humphrey said there is "inequality and injustice" in the program. "The farmers want a change in the farm program, since it hasn't increased farm prices. I propose a program suited to particular producers, based on the production." Humphrey also said the government should not guarantee farm prices, and he attacked the present administration's farm policy as "nonsense."

In discussing articles that have been written concerning conditions in West Virginia, Sen. Humphrey told of his resentment of the "snob" who can take people who are unemployed and make them out to be illiterate.

Senator Humphrey cited his executive responsibilities throughout his long political career both as U.S. Senator and as mayor of Minneapolis, and his efforts for effective administration.

Deplores "Religious Issue"

In answer to questions concerning the "religious issue," Sen. Humphrey said he has found on his tour that people put the issue aside. He said he had been asked very few times any question on religion, but that he felt that a man's religion is his greatest personal possession and has no place in American politics.

He said that too often recently the world has seen the mantle of peace on the shoulders of Mr. Khrushchev when "it belongs to us."

"We are looked upon for our hydrogen bombs and power, but we have failed to impress on people the message, that we are a peace-seeking nation," he asserted.

The Minnesota Senator said West Virginia's Senator Jennings Randolph of Elkins has been a "worker for you," seeking to serve every area. "He deserves the full support of the people of West Virginia," said Humphrey.

"A Poor Man"

KEYSER, W. Va. (AP) —Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn) bitterly lashed out Tuesday at the advantages he says wealth gives to Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass).

"I can't afford to run through this state," he said at one point, "with a little black bag and a checkbook."

Usually Kennedy and Humphrey handle each other so gingerly—"I like Jack" or "I'm fond of Hubert" — that their important Democratic presidential primary date here May 10 sometimes seems like tweedle-dum vs. tweedle-dee.

But Humphrey kept returning to his favorite theme: That he's a poor man, that he's running a poor man's campaign, and what chance has he against the Kennedy millions?

Visits Romney

ROMNEY, W. Va. (UPI) — When Democratic presidential candidate Hubert H. Humphrey spoke here Tuesday, a good many youngsters were in the audience.

Some 2,000 persons braved a light rain and waited more than an hour past the appointed time to hear a man who hopes one day to be president of the United States.

Among those who stood on the steps of the Hampshire County Court House was a group of students from the West Virginia School for the Deaf and Blind.

A Two-Town Affair

Mayors Joseph James (left) of Frostburg and J. Edwin Keech of Cumberland look over plans for "Operation Safety Check," to be observed in both cities next week. At right, seated, is Arthur Howard, safety director of Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, and standing is Donald W. Mason, chairman of the Safe-Teen Queen committee. Cumberland and Frostburg chapters of Safe-Teen will conduct the automobile safety inspections May 4-7, with the help of an adult general committee.

County Science Teachers Will Visit ABL Tonight

The eighth in a series of 10 "in-service training meetings" arranged for Allegany County high school science and mathematics teachers by the Cumberland Chapter of the American Chemical Society will be held at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory tonight, according to Jack A. Petry, supervisor of high schools.

William E. Kight, president of the local ACS chapter, obtained permission to hold tonight's session at ABL.

Five ABL employes will cooperate in the presentation of tonight's program. V. Clifford Anderson, supervisor of the ABL's data processing facility, has prepared a program of electronic computers for the meeting.

Data processing personnel who will conduct the program include Thomas M. Malin Jr., programming supervisor; Donald J. Sine and William M. A. Howard Jr., research mathematicians, and Shelton J. Turner, mathematician-programmer.

Planned for the evening are audio-visual presentations and demonstrations of ABL's electronic computing equipment.

Mr. Anderson, who lives in La Vale, is a graduate of Drew University and has been employed by Hercules Powder Company for 21 years. He has been at ABL since 1946. Mr. Malin, who resides in Park Heights, is a mathematics graduate of Gettysburg (Pa.) College and has done graduate work in mathematics at the University of Delaware. He has been employed at ABL since 1957. At one time he taught mathematics in Friends School, Wilmington, Del.

Mr. Sine, a Frostburg resident, obtained a master of science degree in mathematics from West Virginia University in 1957. He has been employed at Fairchild Aircraft, Hagerstown, and at ABL.

Mr. Howard, who lives in Fort Ashby, W. Va., is a graduate of Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute with a degree in chemical engineering. He also studied law at Georgetown University and has been employed at ABL since 1958. Mr. Turner, who resides in Cumberland, is a mathematics graduate of the University of North Carolina and has been at ABL since last year.

The final two sessions in the 10-week series will be held at Fort Hill High School.

Area Industrial Products Will Be Exhibited

A display on Industrial Cumberland will be shown during the District Conference of Rotary International May 1 and 2 at the Bedford Springs Hotel, Bedford.

The display is being prepared by Robert C. Petersen, a member of the Cumberland Rotary Club and manager of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce.

The central panel of the display, which will fill two booths, will show a map of Maryland and the Rotary seal.

Views of 10 major industries of this Western Maryland industrial center will be shown on the wings, along with a view of the Narrows, Gateway to the West in colonial days, and an aerial map of Cumberland.

The exhibit will also include some of the major products produced by Cumberland industries.

Included will be a rocket from Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, a Celebrity tire producted at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant here, and a roll of fine paper made at the Luke mill of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

Machinery designed and made by Allegany Instrument Company and National Jet Company, fibers spun at the Amcelle plant of Celanese Fibers Company, and fine glass cut by the Cumberland Glass Company will be exhibited.

Mr. Petersen said the display will be useful after the Rotary conference in demonstrating the many products made by the Cumberland area's industrial complex during special events here.

Methodist Church Planning Revivals

A series of revivals will start tomorrow evening at Centenary Methodist Church, Rev. E. D. Sawyers, pastor, announced last night.

The services will begin each evening at 7:30, according to Rev. Mr. Sawyers, who will preach. The public is invited to attend.

Will Build Home

Louis P. Windemuth, 429 Walnut Street, secured a permit from the City of Cumberland yesterday to build a one-story brick dwelling on Lot 73 of Chestnut Street. It will be about 37 by 38 feet and will cost about $7,000.

Historical Transportation Museum Is Urged For City

Continued opposition to the proposed C & O Canal National Historical Park project is expressed by the Maryland Board of Natural Resources in its 15th annual report.

As an alternative, the board recommended a program which includes the establishment of a National Historical Transportation Monument in or near Cumberland. The full recommendations:

"That Maryland cooperate with the Department of the Interior in providing additional land for the complete development of the Harpers Ferry National Historical Park. The state has already appropriated $65,000 for this purpose and should provide additional funds if and when necessary.

"That Maryland support and encourage federal development of recreational facilities along the C & O Canal and the north shore of the Potomac River from the District of Columbia line to Great Falls. This section of the canal has been restored at federal expense and is now under the administration of the Department of the Interior.

"That the Department of the Interior, the City of Cumberland and the State of Maryland cooperate in establishing and supporting a National Historical Transportation Monument in or near the city of Cumberland where the Potomac River, the C & O Canal and the B & O Railroad and the National Pike join. There is now no national monument depicting or commemorating the development of transportation in America.

"That remaining sections of the C & O Canal property not required . . . be transferred to the State of Maryland to be used as state forests, state parks, public hunting grounds and other purposes of interest of the public."

The board noted it is doubtful if its views will prevail as there appears to be, both in and out of

Man Detained In Fraudulent Checks Case

A local man who was arrested Monday night in connection with two fraudulent checks passed here is being held in the Allegany County jail pending an investigation.

Two others arrested in connection with the same case were questioned by authorities and later released.

Hugh J. McMillan, who told police he was staying at Central YMCA, was taken into custody Monday night by Officers Joseph Harvey, Harold Gibson and Kenneth Henry.

City Police Detective Lieutenant James E. Van, who questioned McMillan at police headquarters, arrested Mrs. Harvey DeVore, 890 Sperry Terrace, and Thomas Riggleman, 133 Bedford Street, who were also questioned by Van and Detective Thomas See.

City police turned the trio over to the state's attorney's office yesterday where they were questioned during the afternoon by County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya who obtained a warrant charging McMillan with false pretense. The other two were released.

Van said that on Monday he received a complaint from the First National Bank and Trust Company that they had received a bad check for $200 written on one of their blank checks.

The check was made payable to McMillan by Mrs. DeVore, Van said. A second check for $154 payable to McMillan by Mrs. DeVore, according to Van, was cashed at Joe, The Motorists Friend, store here.

Police said McMillan purchased two new auto tires and two porta-walls at the store for $54 and turned them over to Riggleman. McMillan kept about $30 and gave the balance to Mrs. DeVore, Van said.

The tires and porta-walls were recovered from the trunk of Riggleman's car while it was parked on Henderson Avenue, Van added.

Fire Destroys Payloader

A payloader valued at $16,800 when new, owned by Elwood Riley, of Irons Mountain, was destroyed by fire last night, according to volunteer firemen of District 16, who were called at 7 o'clock.

One of the firemen said Mr. Riley loaded fill dirt into a truck and drove it to the property of an Oldtown Road area family.

He returned to the payloader, found it ablaze and ran some distance to a telephone to summon the firemen who traveled about two and a half miles to the scene.

The firemen said they had a "tough time" ascending the steep mountain slope to the scene of the fire and by the time the three pieces of firefighting equipment reached the area the payloader had been destroyed.

Firemen think the fire started in a battery terminal. The 15 firemen were out about two hours.

Gravel Bars Being Taken From Creek

Two major sand and gravel bars deposited in the channel of Wills Creek during the early spring flood waters are being removed.

Crews of the Cumberland Cement and Supply Company yesterday removed about 200 tons of material dropped in the channel near the B & O Viaduct.

It is estimated that up to 600 tons of sand and gravel is contained in the sand bars at the Viaduct and at the Western Maryland Railway Bridge here.

The Corps of Army Engineers early this week authorized City Engineer C. R. Nuzum to allow the building material firm to remove the deposits.

Excellent progress was made by the firm yesterday as a pay loader dropped the sand and gravel into waiting trailer trucks.

Crews Haul 236 Loads Of Trash To City Dump

The City Street Department yesterday closed its annual trash drive and reported the 236 loads of debris hauled to the city dump was the largest volume on record.

Crews collected 34 loads of trash yesterday as crews backtracked throughout the city on the last day of the drive.

Street Commissioner John J. Long expressed pleasure with the results of the collection.

Street Department records show that the collections are growing in popularity each year.

Last year, crews hauled 212 loads of trash to the city dump, and the total was 197 the year before.

Canal Hikers Will Stop At Old Toll House

Uniformed Keeper Will Be On Duty

A stop at the old National Pike Toll House at Red Hill is being planned during the sixth anniversary reunion of members of the Justice Douglas C&O Canal Hike here May 6 and 7.

The reunion will begin May 6 with a "sleep out" at the Cardinal Club.

Hikers are scheduled to hit the towpath Saturday, May 7, at 7 a. m. for the walk to the Howard Street terminus of the canal.

The party is scheduled to arrive here about 4:30 p. m. and will have a short time to freshen up and to see the top historical spots.

To Open Toll House

It will leave here in time to get to the Toll House by 6 p. m., where a brief ceremony is being planned.

The toll house will be operated by a toll keeper, dressed in an authentic 19th century costume, according to plans being made by Miss Ruth Clauson, president of the Allegany County Historical Society.

The toll house, built about 1833 and used until 1878, was purchased by the State of Maryland several years ago and turned over to the Historical Society for maintenance and operation.

The society has made arrangements to have the toll house opened for the canal hikers, who will be following the route of much of the freight which moved west over the National Road after the long canal passage.

Dinner Planned

The annual reunion ends with a dinner planned at 6:30 p. m. at the Clary Club.

The club is located in one of the 12 stone buildings which comprised the Clarysville General Hospital, used between 1863 and 1865 as a Union medical center.

The committee on local arrangements has set aside a block of 200 tickets to the dinner meeting for Cumberland area residents.

Deadline Nears

The tickets can be held for local people, however, only until May 2, when they will be made available to all comers.

Officials stressed that all area people who are interested in attending the civic dinner should send checks to Box 1316 here.

Plans are also being made to open History House, headquarters of the Allegany County Historical Society from 1 to 3 p. m. on May 7 for the benefit of wives of members of the hiking party.

Traffic Study Planned At Intersection

Police Commissioner Philmore Fleming reports the Police Department is getting excellent results with the new traffic plan at the Central YMCA intersection and is now studying the needs at the Algonquin Hotel intersection.

Traffic from Greene Street, Washington Street, Cumberland Street and off the Baltimore Street Bridge meets at the busy intersection which will be the No. 1 target for improvement.

Mr. Fleming said the department is not going to make a hasty decision and that the final plan will be adopted only after careful studies and traffic counts and after consultation with the Traffic Bureau of the Maryland State Roads Commission.

The No. 2 intersection on the department's study schedule, he said, will be in the Louisiana Avenue-Hill Top Drive section.

Mr. Fleming said the Police Department is getting many favorable comments on the traffic movement at the Y intersection and predicted even better results can be expected as drivers become familiar with the new pattern.

He said good results are being obtained from the directional arrows placed on Baltimore Street traffic lights and that enough are on order to complete the system on downtown streets.

MISS PAULINE BRANT

Valley Senior Selected For CARnival Court

Will Represent Lonaconing Area

Pauline Brant, a senior at Valley High School, has been chosen to represent the Lonaconing area as a princess in the court of Senorita Mercedes Areilza, daughter of the Spanish ambassador to the United States, who will reign as Queen of the Cumberland Sports CARnival, May 9 to 15.

In announcing Miss Brant's selection, Paul D. Beable, principal of Valley High, said the diminutive blue-eyed blonde — five-feet-three, 100 pounds — is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Brant, 42 Church Street, Lonaconing, and that her favorite hobbies are dancing and swimming.

She is a member of the Future Homemakers, Tri-Hi-Y, Choir and 4H Club, and will serve with princesses from most of the other communities within a 75-mile radius of Cumberland during the week-long CARnival celebration.

The chief activities in which the princesses will take part include a pageant and the coronation of the queen at the Queen's Ball at Allegany High School; the Queen's Dinner at the Cumberland Country Club; and a mammoth parade in downtown Cumberland.

Area Rainfall Removes Danger Of More Fires

Assistant State Forester William H. Johnson and other area employes of the State Department of Forests and Parks breathed a sigh of relief yesterday.

The reason was the long-sought rainfall which removed the forest fire danger which has plagued the area since last week. The soaking rain last night was expected to improve vegetation in the area.

Seminar Set At Amcelle

A seminar on "Color Engineering and Dispersion" will be presented May 2 for technical personnel at the Amcelle plant of Celanese Fibers Company.

The seminar will be conducted by Dr. Leon Katz, product manager of the Pigments, Dyestuff and Chemical Division of General Aniline and Film Corporation of New York.

It is expected the seminar will attract more than 60 technical people who are engaged in engineering, research and development at the Amcelle plant.

Dr. Katz will discuss the methods available to the chemist in tailor-making color molecules for specific end uses, with particular emphasis on techniques involved in the mass-dyeing of acetate fibers.

New Postal Rates Plan To Cost 15c Per Month

Postmaster Thomas F. Conlon said yesterday he has been advised by the Postmaster General that proposed letter rate increases would cost the average family only 15 cents more per month.

This is because about three-fourths of the mail covered in the recommended new rates would be mailed by large commercial users who would pay most of the additional $554,000,000 in postage increases being sought.

Mr. Conlon said the Postmaster General is optimistic that Congress will approve the recommended rate increases before adjournment this summer.

The proposed rates would raise ordinary letter costs from four to five cents an ounce; air mail from seven to eight cents; postal cards from three to four cents; and air mail postal cards from five to six cents.

The revenues from second class mail — mostly magazines and newspapers—would be increased about 40 per cent, he said, and third class mail would go up about 25 per cent.

However, Mr. Conlon pointed out that even with the 1958 increase from three to four cents for ordinary letters the 1960 deficit for the fiscal year ending this June is expected to be over $600,000,000 according to the Postmaster General.

The postal department is getting far less than its traditional revenue yield from postage on the ordinary letter, Mr. Conlon said, and second class mail overall is losing nearly four cents for every piece handled. First class letter rates have increased one-third since 1932, while postal costs have hiked 100 per cent, he added.

The Cumberland postmaster said he will try to keep the public further informed on the proposed rate increases and their effect on the economy here.

County Cancer Crusade Off To Good Start

Officials Pleased With Early Returns

The Allegany County Chapter of the American Cancer Society launched its 1960 fund drive last night and officials of the appeal said the early returns indicated it was well-received throughout the county.

Mrs. Robert K. Poling, chairman of the house-to-house solicitation, said only a portion of the several hundred workers made their returns last night and it will be several days before the final tabulation will be made.

She added the early returns are running ahead of the same time last year and it is expected the canvass will top the approximately $7,000 which was collected in the house-to-house drive in 1959.

Many of the volunteer workers who made their returns last night said the drive was launched on an enthusiastic note.

Mail Donations Sought

Mrs. Poling said volunteer workers left small brown envelopes where no one was home. She requests these persons to use the envelopes to mail in their contributions.

She also said if homes were missed during the canvass last night, the occupants are requested to contact the cancer office on the second floor of the Memorial Building, 128 Union Street, or by calling PA 2-2145.

Several tellers from each of the local banks were at the Times-News Building last night, receiving, counting and sorting the returns made by workers who helped launch the cancer appeal.

Goal Doubled

Volunteer workers from Cumberland and LaVale made their returns to the newspaper building last night, while other towns and communities throughout the county made their preliminary reports by telephone.

Herman L. Myers, general chairman of the drive in Allegany County, has set a goal of twice the $11,000 realized last year.

At the collection point last night, Mr. Myers said if early collections were any indication, the established goal may be reached. He added he was confident the people of Allegany County would give generously to the Cancer Crusade.

Mrs. Lucile Roeder, president of the county chapter, and Mrs. Regina Cioni, executive, were based at the chapter's office and helped guide last night's operations.

County Debt Now Totals $7,668,255

Allegany County's bonded indebtedness as of June 30 will stand at $7,668,255.44, according to figures compiled by Mrs. Johanna N. Sills, the county auditor, for the benefit of the Board of County Commissioners.

Mrs. Sills also projected this debt into the equivalent of a silver dollar and figured what portion of each $1 of indebtedness is caused by one of five sources of al of the debt.

Public school bonds and the state school construction loans add up to almost three quarters of each dollar. Specifically, the school debt is $5,614,604.27, or 73.22 per cent of the total debt.

Almost two dimes out of each $1 of indebtedness are for flood control bonds, which total $1,480,000 or 19.3 per cent of the debt.

The three other debts together do not take quite seven-and-one-half cents out of each $1 of indebtedness. Hospital bonds add up to $300,000 or 3.91 per cent of the debt. Highway improvement bonds include $184,651.17 or 2.41 per cent of the outstanding obligations. The smallest chunk of the debt is $89,000 or 1.16 per cent for voting machines.

Commissioner John T. Mason pointed out that the highway bonds are retired out of gasoline tax money and are not paid for out of county tax revenue.

Allegany County's total indebtedness amounts to 4.56 per cent of the approximately $168,000,000 total assessable basis of the county. Fiscal authorities generally concede that a municipality or county with indebtedness of less than five per cent is in good condition financially.

In the fiscal year starting July 1 the county plans to retire $280,000 of its indebtedness, according to the levy approved April 19.
